GIVE KINDNESS FOR KINDNESS

Girl Complains That Her Sister Treats Friends Ungraciously

"Celie" Seems to be Showing Too Much Interest in Chum's Brother

Dear Miss Smart: At a girl 20 years old, I have always been quite popular with both the girls and the boys. I have lots of very nice friends and I always go out quite a good deal. I have a sister several years younger than I. She does not go out very much and is very jealous of me. It hurts me because it seems almost impossible for any girl to act so hateful and selfish toward an older sister. She should be very proud of you and try to make herself well liked and popular by being courteous and hospitable to your guests. Surely this unpleasant situation could not develop unless you are somewhat at fault also, perhaps.

Perhaps if you had always been kind and considerable towards her, you would get kindness and consideration in return. Perhaps your friends and your own interests have kept you so occupied that you have not had much time to devote to your sister and accordingly have ignored her. Naturally she would resent this—especially since you say she does not have many friends.

As you are the older, you should take the initiative. Since your sister is not very popular, draw her into your good times and make her one of your circle. Show her how she can improve herself and have a more pleasing personality. Suggest that she invite a few of her acquaintances to your home some evening and help her to see that they have an enjoyable time. Make her see the necessity of being a good and hospitable hostess. Be kind to her at all times, show her that you have affection for her and that you take pride in her. Be patient and you will be proud of yourself for the splendid results which, doubtless, will develop.

Dear Miss Smart: Would you please be kind enough to tell me the proper way to massage my face, nose and chin?

Spread massage cream on the face and neck. Rub in with rotary motion, using tips of the first three fingers of each hand. Use upward motion on the face; downward on the neck. Special attention should be given to the deep line running from the nose down to the mouth. Apply to the horizontal line on the forehead.

When working on the nose, be very careful to work upward, using the middle finger of each hand for this. Run the fingers up over the nose and across the eyebrows, to the side of the forehead seven times.

In massaging the chin use the thumbs also, working from the middle towards the ears. Then galting down to the neck (it is necessary). The massage method will not help to fill it out, but will have a healthy influence on all the adjoining parts. Use the finger tips for this purpose, working sideways from the throat.

Dear Miss Smart: My sister's brother always used to be very nice to me. Lately I don't know what is wrong with him. I go to their home quite frequently, but he always seems to have some excuse for leaving the minute I get there. This hurts me as I like him very much. What do you think I should do?

It may be that you have made your liking for this young man so evident that he has taken this means to discourage a regard he does not return. Have too much pride and self-respect to go to see your friend very frequently and especially at an hour at which you think the young man will be home. Choose a later hour. Do not force his friendship or permit him to know that you care for him and are hurt by his attitude. Doubt he is doing this only because he thinks it is for the best.

WHY ISN'T SHE IN THE CHORUS?

Mrs. Gene Buck, wife of the author of the well known Ziegfeld Folies, recently sailed for Europe, pleasure bound. Judging by the photo, Mrs. Buck is pretty enough to have a prominent place in the famous beauty chorus which always makes the Folies famous. She played recently as a star in "Jack O'Lantern." Note the sleeveless gown she is wearing although it is daytime.

"MADE IN LIMA" PLANS GROW

Exhibit Opening of Moose Home to Be Comprehensive.

One entire room of the "Made in Lima" exhibition which will open the new Moose Home, North and West-st., August 18 to 27, inclusive, will be devoted to a display of office supplies and fixtures. It was decided Saturday at a meeting of the executive committee in charge of arrangements, upon request of the office supply houses of Lima, who wish to have their exhibits grouped.

It was announced by George C. Pound, manager of the exposition, that exhibit space on one entire floor of the new Moose home already had been contracted for and that more than half of another floor had been reserved. Pound reported also that the exposition workers are meeting with enthusiastic success and that a much larger proportion of the building had been reserved for display room than originally had been planned.

Estimates of attendance during the ten days of the exposition, based on developments during the past week, were increased at the executive committee meeting to 65,000. It had been decided at the beginning of preparations that from 50,000 to 60,000 would be a phenomenal figure. Judications are, according to Manager Pound, that the exposition will surpass the most sanguine expectations of the workers.

BID ON CHILDREN HOME WORK

Commissioners Have Many Estimates From Lima Contractors.

Allen-co commissioners received bids up to noon Saturday for repairs and new construction at the Allen-co Children's home and for the nursery to be built there. Contracts will be awarded Monday or at least, the first of the coming week.

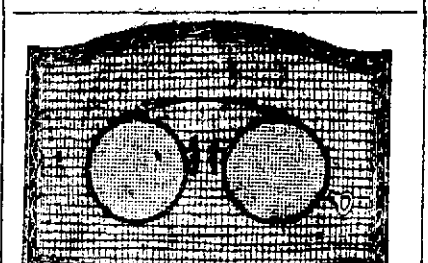

The Lima Cut Stone company was low bidder on the nursery building, the amount specified being $45,283. H. V. Cross, Lima, bid $57,000 and the Ora M. Green company, $55,000. All are Lima contractors.

Terry McIntyre was lowest bidder on the plumbing, his price being $3,650. The Theo. G. Schled company was highest bidder at $4,990. On roughing, John M. Morgan company was lowest, bidding $1,827 and William Bros. highest, at $2,550.

The Wentworth-Bell company was lowest bidder on electrical work, their estimate being $73. V. H. Effinger was highest, with a bid of $1,425. Reed Brothers bid $1,096.

Repairs to be made consist of an addition to the boiler room, coal room, installation of metal lath strips and placing the building generally in good shape. Potts Bros. are lowest bidders on the repair work. Others who submitted bids on this work are: The Lima Cut Stone company, E. E. Uptegrah, the Lima Double Wall company and H. V. Cross. All contractors who submitted estimates have headquarters in Lima.

Architect Frank M. Leach, who drew the plans, will assist commissioners in tabulation of the bids and going over the estimates carefully.

EYE FATIGUE

Eyes in their normal condition are at rest when focused upon distant objects. When reading or doing close work the delicate muscles are subject to fatigue.

Resting your eyes with glasses is very beneficial. Even if you do not positively need glasses for vision you may need them to rest your eyes—unless you stop using them for a time. We can give you sound advice on this subject.

LIMA BOY SCOUTS BREAK CAMP AT QIRTY'S ISLA

The Boy Scouts of Lima returned Saturday evening from a four day camp on Qirty's Island, in the Mee river, near Defiance. About 100 boys were in the group that returned Saturday.

There have been an average of 100 Scouts in camp each week with a returning some at the close of a week and others joining the camp. It is estimated that 125 boys attended the camp at some time during the past month.

Scout Executive E. F. Stalham was in charge of the camp. Boys received instruction in scoutcraft as well as athletics.

Society News

Friday evening Mrs. Leah M. Butler, W. Spring-st., entertained a score of friends informally. For their entertainment she presented a rather unusual program of Oriental numbers.

Miss Helen Basinger, in a handsome Chinese costume, gave a most interesting Chinese play, "The Sweet West Game," in which the oriental idea of man's superiority to women is clearly depicted. The setting for the play was entirely Chinese with soft lanterns, lights and clouds of incense. Miss Basinger is an earnest student of dramatic art, having won much praise for her work at the Pittsburgh School of Fine Arts, and gives promise of adding another name to Lima's list of young people, who have made names for themselves in the legitimate drama.

Miss Esther Lynch played Roccimanooff's "Bayerolle," and as an encore gave a bird song of Roccimanooff.

Miss Marjorie Henderson Carner who has been the first one from Lima to attend the wonderful Denine Shaw Art School in Los Angeles gave a group of beautiful dramatic sculpture, "Platonic—music," "Salute de Amour," "Incense—music," "Frisco" and "Veil Platonic," music, "Solovjov's Song." These were given with a softly lighted background of flowers and greenery. Miss Lynch as accompanist. A Neapolitan "Tambourine dance," with music by Marie Marie, was one full of life and sparkle, showing the beauty of dancing. In response to repeated calls she gave an East Indian number, "Vogt," showing how man may search the world over for spiritual light. Finally returning to his home he finds it within himself and renounces worldly pleasure of every kind and finds peace.

Mrs. M. E. Dawson, W. Wayne-st. was hostess to the members of the Queen Quality club at an all day meeting Friday at noon a delicious dinner was served. A centerpiece of flowers graced the table. The hostess was assisted by Misses Rath and Esther Broubeck. Mrs. Hazel Clausen was the only guest.

Next meeting will be held in a fortnight with Mrs. A. E. Ransbottom, W. Spring-st.

C. F. Mason, Asbury Park, N. J., is the week-end guest of Miss Doris Ginter, N. Collett-st.

CINDERELLA TODAY

By RUBY M. AYERS

Julia Mansfield wrote to her sister, Pauline, "I am very worried about you, Pauline! Will you come over on Tuesday? Guy will be here! I shall never stop worrying till I have seen you again."

Pauline longed to go but she wrote back: "I can't come, darling! We're so busy! Cynthia is to be married in three weeks' time, and it's one extra rush! But I'm all right! And I'll come as soon as it's all over. Give my love to Guy, and hug the babies for me—Pauline."

Guy was in the house when the letter came, and Julia showed it to him.

"Well, what are you worrying about, anyway?" he asked.

"Pauline. She wasn't like herself when she came here the other day," she nodded gravely.

"Perhaps my worthy parent had been giving her a rough time," he suggested. "Look here! Shall I go over and see how the land lies?"

It was only just three o'clock when Guy rang the bell at his mother's house.

"All right. I'll just go into the drawing-room. Tell her I'm here, will you?" he said to Mason.

He opened the drawing-room door. Stanford was there by the fire.

Guy didn't expect to see me! I thought I'd just run over and see how everyone is . . . Pauline all right?"

The door opened again to admit Cynthia. Her smile faded when she saw Guy.

"I did not know you were here," she gave him her hand and her cheek to kiss.

"I came to offer my—congratulations," he said coolly.

"Let me introduce you—my brother Guy . . . Capt. Stanford . . ."

"We've met before," Guy said. "We introduced ourselves before you came in," he hastened to amend his words.

"And Pauline?" he asked deliberately.

"She is very well—she will come down—I will tell Mason."

"I've already told her, thanks."

"Oh!" She moved back to the fire. She was annoyed by this visit, and both men knew it.

Pauline has got a new idea into her head now," she said presently. "She wants to leave home and go out into the world," as she calls it.

"What do you mean?" Guy demanded. "If there is anything the matter . . ."

"Oh, there is nothing the matter," she said, with a faint sneer. "Only it's perfectly obvious that she is unhappy about something!"

Cynthia laughed softly. She liked moving her brother, and she knew quite well what was his feeling for Pauline.

"Of course!" She stood there in the dark doorway watching till he disappeared on to the platform.

As she turned in the road, she heard a slow step coming towards her.

She stood quite still in the darkness, as close as she could get to the hedge, and he passed her and went on down the road.

Pauline waited until she knew it was impossible for him to hear her, then she ran home.

She encountered Cynthia in the hall.

"Didn't you meet Nicholas?" she asked in faint surprise. "He would insist on going to meet you."

"Of course not," said Pauline. "How perfectly absurd."

At the top of the stairs Pauline was met by her stepmother.

"You'll please change that frock and come into dinner this evening," she said tartly. "And to all meals for the future, you understand!"

"Thank you," said Pauline. "But I'd rather not."

"You'll do as you're told," Mrs. Boulton ordered sharply. "You'll change your frock and come in to dinner and behave yourself."

"I don't care a pin if I come in or not," said Pauline, loftily. "But I'll put my hair up or I'll stay out of the dining room, thank you."

Mrs. Boulton grew purple in the face.

"Very well, then, put it up," she said, violently. "Put it up, and a nice object you'll look."

After an hour spent locked in her bedroom, she crept down the stairs. The insignificant mirror in the attic bedroom had shown her a picture which before her own eyes had fallen in sheer amazement.

Stanford devoted himself to Cynthia. Pauline was thankful when the meal was ended and she could escape. She went to the kitchen and Mason for comfort.

"I suppose they're not taking you with them tonight?" Mason asked after a moment.

"No—where are they going?"

"Down to Dr. Scott's—four bridge."

A bell rang through the house. Mason went away and Pauline heard voices in the hall, and the opening and shutting of doors—then silence.

Mason came back.

"They've gone," she said cheerfully. "I'll make some coffee. You just run along to the drawing room, there's a nice fire there."

Pauline obeyed listlessly.

She pushed open the drawing room door and found Stanford there.

Pauline's first impulse was to fly, then she changed her mind. He would think she was afraid of him.

I thought you'd gone to the

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

That evening at dinner Cherry related her experiences to the family. Jane was most enthusiastic about the contemplated changes in the shop, and was loud in her praise of Cherry's ideas.

"Old Man Hamlen must be almost bustled with surprise," said Jack, grinning over at his sister-in-law. "He never makes changes, as I know of. Art's always at him to get a new slant on things, but the old man tells him that his ways have been good enough for Wellsburg folk for thirty years, and he's satisfied that they're right."

"My, he certainly must be topsy-turvy in his mind by now," then answered Cherry, as she remembered the many changes she had suggested. "I guess Art talked him over to let you have your head, because Art's got a heap of sense, anyhow. I'd like to see Mrs. Hamlen's face when the old man tells her what's going to happen. She believes in conservative ways. Thought that the millinery department was pretty well perfect!"

"I'll cure all criticism with my creations. Just wait and see, Jack," laughed Cherry, positively. "No one will be able to stand up against them."

"Seems too bad that you get the work just now, Cherry," broke in Mrs. Randall, gently. "Because Phoebe's been pestering me to let her go home and see her old mother for a month or so, and I think I'll have to, soon. That will leave me most of the work to do. And now with you away! It would have been easier if you would have been my right-hand woman during her absence."

"I'll have heaps of time to help you, mother, never fear," answered Cherry. "Why, I leave Hamlen's at about 3 o'clock or 3.30—that gives me several hours in the afternoon to help you. If you need me, And we can all make our own beds every morning, and dust the rooms. It means getting up half an hour or so earlier—but what of that?"

"Maybe," sniffed Mrs. Randall. "Still, I hate to be left alone all day long."

Cherry pouted within herself just why her mother-in-law had made this remark. It was not as the Phoebe going home on a well-earned visit, for such was not the case, for at regular intervals now, for many years, Phoebe had insisted on being allowed to depart of her family, and their rest up from her arduous labors of the year.

Therefore it must be some other, subtler reason that had prompted Mrs. Randall to mounce Cherry's sympathies on behalf of her coming loneliness? Ah, ha! No doubt it was because of the new job. The lady of the manor was undoubtedly taking this new duty in matrimony very hard. She was going to do her best to have her turbulent daughter-in-law stand to her (tune) what better excuse than that of Phoebe's absence? The big house to take care of alone?

"Clever," thought Cherry, as she went on with her salad, "but not genuine enough sometimes or other."

"I'll agree to lend to the getting of dinner every evening that Phoebe's away, mother," she suggested, after a few moments. "Then maybe Jane would wash the dishes? Anyhow, we can manage perfectly between us, and without upsetting anybody or their work."

"Splendid idea, lady-bird, and just the way to come forward like that," said Ned, proudly. "I'll tell you, mother, this little Cherry is a wonderful girl in every way. And wait till you taste her dinner. Mm! I have, often. She's every bit as good a cook as she is a designer. No doubt about it, either!"

"Silly-billy," laughed Cherry. "Don't boast too hard lest I disappoint you all. But please be easy in your mind, mother, about our taking all the hard work off your hands while Phoebe is gone."

"Well, I don't know," said Mrs. Randall, still dubious. "I'll hope for the best, tho, and I feel sure you mean well, Cherry. Still, our ways may not be your ways in the kitchen, dear."

New Models—New Prices

Here's the news you have been waiting for.

For months past the one query most often propounded in motoring circles has been, "What is Reo going to say—and when?"

Here's the answer.

New Closed Models—4-passenger Coupe and 5-passenger Sedan—are now available.

New Prices on Touring and Roadster models effective August 1st.

Story is too long to tell here. 'Twould take a page to tell you about one model alone.

Besides you will have to see these new Reos to fully appreciate.

Suffice to say, all Passenger Car Models have that wonderfully silent, sweet-running, amazingly powerful Reo Six Motor—the greatest motor in the world of its size and for its purpose.

In every genuine advance in automotive science—in all that makes for greater motoring satisfaction—this Six upholds Reo traditions of leadership and merits the title, "The Incomparable—the Six of Sixty Superiorities."

The epitome of Reo engineering experience—the last word in coach building.

In that mighty Reo Speed Wagon we now have something sensational to offer you.

Nobby Cord Tires all 'round and—a greatly reduced price—also effective August 1st.

This Speed Wagon dominates the Field regardless of carrying capacities. Wherever Motor Trucks are known this Speed Wagon is known as the best. It fits every business—meets every carrying need.

Range of usefulness is practically unlimited—most versatile as well as most dependable.

Always the lowest priced commercial car of its carrying capacity, this Speed Wagon is now a better buy than ever.

When you've seen these new Reos and heard the new prices, you'll say, Reo is today, more than ever, "The Gold Standard of Values."

Come in and see and hear the whole story.

Attractions Booked Convey An Special Appeal to Lima Theatre-Going Public

Lima Fans Have Feast of Fine Pictures in Store for the Coming Week

There is one picture to be presented at one of the Lima movie houses beginning today which the writer is very strongly attracted. It stands out among the remainder of the attractions offered like the Woolworth building in Lima.

That does not mean to infer however that the picture is as majestic as quite.

The Man Who is the play, and Bert Lytell the premier comedian of the screen is to be "the man who." If you have read the story in one of the daily magazines you could probably appreciate the picture as do those who have read it. If you haven't you'll enjoy it all the more. It will be entirely new to you. It's clever. That's about the best thing you can say for it.

If the directors introducing the picture made as good a production of the screen as the author of the story did for the magazine, moviegoers are in for a most delightful time.

In addition to this foremost attraction, Elaine Hammerstein has decided to visit Lima again. On the silver sheet of course and in a picture that will unquestionably give her the greatest opportunities for her particular type of acting. The picture is entitled "The Miracle of Manhattan."

Another photoplay that gives promise of being most delightful is "What's Your Reputation Worth?" Corinne Griffith—delicious little corinne—is the star.

The Lyric's Pictures

THE LYRIC is boasting of its success in booking Elaine Hammerstein in "The Miracle of Manhattan." The picture is scheduled for Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the week.

It is the story of New York's so-called whirl in this picture, Miss Hammerstein takes the role of the woman with the beautiful voice who becomes a singer in a cabaret, she meets an ex-gangster, the love element enters and there is a triangle.

The story is really based upon a discussion of true love and its relation to rank and station. The picture is wrapped up in the outcome of just this situation.

Miss Hammerstein is a remarkable finished actress. Her natural refinement aids her considerably in the roles she is called upon to play in the movies. Her personality radiates a musical temperament—thus she is especially fitted for this picture.

There is considerable romance and adventure in the picture, bigging well towards swift action.

During the second half of the week Warren Kerrigan is being featured at the Lyric in "The Coast of Opportunity." It is probably another picture of adventure and love. It should present some interesting entertainment.

The Sigma's Pictures

THE MAN WHO is to show at the Sigma. Beginning this afternoon it is based upon a short story that was published some time ago in the Saturday Evening Post and it is the outgrowth of matters pertaining to the recent war, high price of shoes and the love of a woman.

Worked together, they have made a most interesting plot. Yes most interesting, for the first woman Bert Lytell as the hero becomes interested in is cast aside when she proves unworthy of his unflinching love. No 2 comes along and wins him.

There's a catch in the victory. "I won't marry you," she tells him, "until you know the girl I really am."

Miss Hammerstein is a remarkable finished actress. Her natural refinement aids her considerably in the roles she is called upon to play in the movies. Her personality radiates a musical tempera-

But it is not the sensational element that is brought in. She's not a bad girl—no the picture is absolutely clean in every respect. The cat is a different kind. See the picture worth it.

And the second half is when Corinne Griffith will appear on "The Coast of Opportunity." It is probably another picture of adventure and love. It should present some interesting entertainment.

The Faurot's Pictures

EXCEPTIONAL quality and pleasant contrast mark the Faurot's offerings for this week. Today, Monday and Tuesday, a melodramatic comedy, "Proxies," will be presented and on Wednesday the Paramount super-special,

"The Faith Healer" will be shown. The picture is a big hit at the Criterion theatre in New York and Mr. Melford was given high praise for his masterly directorial work. The settings are charming, the photography an artistic delight to the eye and a talented cast interprets the spiritual message of the story.

Milton Sills plays the leading role with engaging simplicity and a sincerity of purpose marks this performance as one of the best he has given to the screen. And Louise is magnetic and appealing as the erring but repentant Rhoda. Admirable support is given by all of the big cast employed.

MOVIE SECRETS ARE REVEALED

Q—What famous movie actress has one blue and one brown eye?

A—Coleen Moore is the owner of this strange pair of eyes. The difference in color of her eyes is not apparent in the movies.

Q—Who is Mrs. Edgar Stillman?

A—Mrs. Edgar Stillman, who is the wife of a New York millionaire is better known to movie fans as Louise Huff. She has a daughter, Mary Louise, who is a child of her first husband, director Edgar Jones.

Q—To whom is Betty Bjthe married?

A—In private life Betty is Mrs. Paul Scardon.

Q—What is Seena Owen's real name?

A—Seena Owen is but the phonetic spelling for her real name which is Seena Auen.

Q—Do you know a movie actor named Virlian Eicholberger?

A—This is the real but discarded name of Wheeler Oakman, who is the husband of Priscilla Dean. Oakman was born in Washington, D. C., 31 years ago and began his screen career with the old Lubin company. His first stage appearance was in that old dramatic favorite, "Under the Skies." He is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds.

Q—What are some of the tricks of movie makeup? Even if you are not thinking of going to the movies you will be interested in the answer to this question which will appear in our next issue.

If you follow the rules of movie makeup the next time you go to have your photograph made you will be surprised at how much better your picture is.

Endeavor to Break Grip of Material Men on Highway Department

KNIGHT IS IRATE

Akron Congressman May Resign—General Political Comment

THE LIMA NEWS BUREAU
Columbus, July 30.
COLUMBUS—(Special)—Can the grip of the Ohio road material men on the Ohio highway department be shaken? This is the big question which is now pending in the mid-summer highway sensation. You can count back for years and in the "off" years of politics, the old Buckeye state generally has something going to keep up the interest. Two years ago it was the campaign against high prices which broke out during these dog days. Of course, it might have one now against bottom prices for farm products, sheriff sales, unemployment, diminishing accounts, receiverships and other evidences of normalcy, but that probably would do little good. So the public scent in on the highway material men and the taxpayers are trying to run the H. M. M. (meaning highway material men) ragged. But thus far little success has attended their efforts, because the aforesaid H. M. M. has a staunch friend in Leon C. Herrick, director of highway, superintendent of canals, superintendent of public buildings and general powerful man under the "ripper" bill.

It is doubtful, to be plain about it, whether in years there has been such a determined effort against anything as against the highway material men. The people want roads, but there is a frenzy about this campaign against continuation of wartime prices and reckless extravagance that is bound to cut a figure. And the policy of the highway department seems to be to provoke it, rather than allay it. When holding up of prices beyond reason is so plain that the merest child can see it, the department deliberately insists that there be full steam ahead, no matter what the taxpayers say. Out of nearly fifty contracts only four were set aside as being excessive and while the bids were less than the estimates, there was no rebuke in the action for high material costs. Sentiment comes to those who made the determined effort to find a means of forcing lower prices for highways. The bed rock fact is that the highway department is anxious to build miles and miles of road, and cost is a minor factor. In that behalf, it may be assumed that Highway Director L. C. Herrick told the truth when he told the Marion-co prosecuting attorney that he did not know what materials cost. He probably does not.

From many standpoints the contest ahead—for only the last running has been played out thus far—is due to be one of the most interesting in years and years. It will determine whether a well organized minority, which knows what it wants and is determined to get it, can prevail over an overwhelming majority not so certain of what it wants and with no such grim determination. The state government is more or less a spectator to the conflict, giving what help it can to the material people, because its friends are in the material "game" (fitting name, under the circumstances). It is said that the state government is a spectator because it has no definite policy, except that it can without arousing too much protest. A simple illustration was offered this week of alleged claims of excess, although the bids were less than the highway department's own estimates. It was a concession to a protest—only that and nothing more, as the poet would say. But if the prosecuting attorney of Marion-co and Senator Charles Brand, of Urbana, are wrong about this thing of highway collusion and of reduction in materials, why was the concession made then? Why, indeed?

Eliminating the materials that prices to make concessions in prices might be one way of getting at the matter, but that is a step not taken. The real facts seem to be that a factor has been used to get a flat 50 per cent increase in prices, and that other elements that enter into road-making are as high as they ever were. Cost, for as everyone knows, is actually higher. The others have not added even a cent, anything like the projections that even retail merchants have fallen off. Nor will they, so long as the highway department stands firm. The department must be the object of all attacks, by Brand, by Prosecutors

HOSPITAL IS FIREPROOF,

Big Lima Institution Cannot be Classed Among Gov-

INSPECTION MADE

Every Safeguard Used to Protect 1000 Prisoners
Held Here

Lima state hospital is not among the state institutions branded as fire traps by Governor L. Davis. Dr. Wilhelm H. Vorbeau declared Saturday. Governor Davis, Saturday ordered an investigation of fire protection at state institutions as a result of the fire at London prison farm Thursday, when barns and silos burned.

The buildings of the local institution are absolutely fire proof, Dr. Vorbeau declared, and there is ample fire equipment in case fire originates from any source. An inspection made within the last 48 hours proved the hospital protection as satisfactory, he stated.

BUILDINGS ARE MODERN
All the buildings are of brick and concrete construction, and modern throughout. The institution has two large storage tanks, holding many thousands of gallons of water. They furnish ample water with a pressure sufficient to reach the top of the tallest buildings without pumping. In addition there is provision for creating a greater pressure with force pumps. The engine house, heating plant and pump station are housed in one building. Three engineers, each working an eight hour shift are on duty night and day.

The engineer on duty acts as chief of the volunteer department composed of employees in case of fire. The department is equipped with two hose carts, and in addition there are hose lines located at various points in all buildings, including barns. Each hose is connected with a water pipe ready for use. Hydrants are situated at convenient points about the grounds of the institution.

Fire hazard is reduced to a minimum in every way possible, Dr. Vorbeau said. The pipes of the heating system are brought into the buildings through tunnels. The buildings are lighted with electricity, the wires being protected by the methods approved by underwriters. There is little woodwork about any of the buildings.

NO FIRES ON RECORD
During the history of the institution, Dr. Vorbeau declared there have been no fires. Every precaution is used, he stated to safeguard inmates are in the hospital.

In ordering a survey of fire protection at state institutions, Governor Davis pronounced the condition at London to be one of "deplorable neglect."

"It appears there is little provision for fighting fire effectively at most state institutions, and some of them are literally fire traps," the governor said. "Institutions house many thousands of state wards and there is little question but that a serious fire in some of them may mean a great catastrophe and cost many lives."

He declared that funds for securing fire protection will be provided.

PRISON LABOR ON ROADS STOPPED

Order Issued To Herrick By Governor Davis.

COLUMBUS—Use of prison labor in constructing state highways was ordered suspended Saturday night because of the unemployment situation.

Governor Harry Davis sent instructions to this effect to L. T. Herrick, director of public works. The order was followed by an announcement from Herrick that prisoners would be returned to the state penitentiary and regular workmen employed immediately.

In ordering the change, Governor Davis declared it was in compliance with his policy to "make highway construction work reduce unemployment as much as possible. He said his intention was not to permit a return of convict labor to road work until return of normal conditions of employment clearly warranted it.

WILL BE GIVEN WORK
Under present conditions, we must make every reasonable effort toward giving employment to the people who are out of work," stated the governor. "As the use of every prisoner in connection with building means a job less for the citizens of Ohio, it would be unfair to deprive anyone of an opportunity to get work in order to keep convicts busy on highways."

"Through highway construction work direct, and by the discontinuance of prison labor thousands of people who otherwise would be idle, will be given work and enabled to support themselves and their families. So far as Ohio is concerned, there will be no resumption of the use of prison labor until working conditions have been re-established themselves."

FIGHT ON PRICES.
Organized labor Saturday took up the fight to secure lower prices for state road work.

The attack was directed against the road contractors. T. J. Donnelly, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor, charged labor has taken a wage cut which contractors have not passed on to the state in reduced construction costs.

"Contractors getting these state jobs are generally violating the eight hour day law for public works," Donnelly charged. "Contractors now are generally requiring their men to work ten hours a day."

"Not only have we knowledge that the law is being violated openly but we have knowledge that many are intimidating their workmen and compelling them to sign petitions asking local and state authorities to countenance violation of the law by permitting the ten hour day, under threat of losing their jobs."

FIGHT IN CONGRESS

Ultimatum Served on Ways and Means Committee
Majority Members

(BY HERBERT WALKER)
WASHINGTON—The normal income rates and other levies on "the little fellows" must be cut down if any reduction is made in the taxes of the wealthy.

This was the ultimatum served today by Democratic leaders of the house on Republican members of the house ways and means committee now writing a new tax bill.

The other important development of the day in the tax revision situation was the definite statement by Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee that he would make every effort to have the transportation taxes—both freight and passenger—repealed. If this cannot be done, he said he would seek to have the rates cut in half during the next year and repealed the following year.

DEMOCRATIC PLAN
The charges were made by Representative Oldfield, Arkansas, Democratic whip, that the Republicans have decided to lift the tax burdens of the rich, but leave those of the people of moderate means on the war basis. He stated that the Democratic leaders will fight to have the normal income tax rate, now four per cent, reduced to two, or at least three per cent.

"The Republicans have virtually decided to repeal the excess profits tax on corporations and reduce surtaxes on wealthy individuals from a present maximum of 65 per cent to a maximum of 35 or 25 per cent," Oldfield said.

A few of the consumption taxes may be repealed, but I find virtually no consideration is being given to reducing the normal income tax rates.

MUST APPLY TO BOTH
If the taxes on wealthy corporations and individuals are to be reduced, I insist that the same reduction should apply to the little fellows. If the surtax rates are cut in half, the normal income tax rate, applying to incomes less than $5,000 should be reduced by the same proportion.

Chairman Fordney partly confirmed Democratic statements of Republican plans by stating he believed it would be difficult to reduce the normal income rates.

"But the consumers pay all the taxes," he said. "The elimination of the excess profits levy will mean that a great burden will be lifted off everybody by lower prices. Then the repeal of the reductions of the transportation taxes will be reflected in everything people have to eat and wear."

Oldfield countered by asserting that the excess profits levy is not responsible for high prices. He stated that before the levy was imposed in 1918 prices had increased 81 per cent and charged that under it corporations made greater profits than ever before. The Democrats will fight against the repeal of the profits tax and in this will be assisted by some of the farmer representatives in the open ranks.

If the Democrats can force a vote on lowering the taxes on the "little fellows," the proposals are very certain to pass in the under way for the house by rule to accept the bill virtually at it will be written by the ways and means committee.

GOV. SMALL'S ROAD TRIP
MAY LAST ALL SUMMER

Governor Small (left), Judge Frost Smith, and Illinois state house at Springfield.

Will Avoid Arrest by Staying Away from Springfield, Reports Say

JOLIET, Ill.—Illinois "capitol on wheels" parked here Saturday. The automobile carrying Governor or Len Small on his state road inspection tour, a tour incidentally that is keeping the executive away from Springfield where Sheriff Henry Mester is waiting to arrest him—rolled into Joliet from Aurora.

Late Saturday evening the "traveling capitol" chugged on toward Kankakee where Small will spend Sunday with his family. The indicted governor will resume his inspection tour Monday.

Small intends to "face the music" in Springfield Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, according to reports coming from some of his friends. He will go to Springfield and submit to arrest as soon as his lawyers have determined definitely upon their plan of legal battle for a trial outside of Sangamon-co, and that will be "next week sure," these friends said. Small said he may be in Springfield next week.

Other reports had it the governor remains adamant in his determination to resist arrest in Sangamon-co, and that he will continue his road trip all summer, if necessary, without crossing the Sangamon-co "dead line."

Meanwhile, Sheriff Mester, at Springfield, has warrants charging the governor with embezzling state money, soiling and crumpling in his pocket.

CLAIMS RECORDS TAKEN
CHICAGO—When Governor Len Small vacated the office of state treasurer in Illinois he took with him all records pertaining to the interest on public money, and the depositing of public funds. Attorney General Brundage charged in a formal statement here Saturday.

Breaking from his silence on the Small case, Brundage thus answered the indicted Governor's claims that all his records have been "open for four years."

"If Small will return these records, our auditor will very quickly determine the amount of the withheld interest, in addition to the $10,000,000 manipulation," Brundage declared.

"The governor is very adroit," Brundage's statement said. "In omitting to say that the new treasurer, Edward Miller, unmasked the deposit of $10,000,000 in a paper's private bank at Grant Park."

U. S. DEMAND ON
RUSSIA CLEARCUT

Moscow Can't Sidestep Release of Americans, Hughes Asserts.

(By A. L. BRADFORD)
WASHINGTON — The American government expects to secure the release soon of all American prisoners in Russian soviet prisons.

Following receipt of official information announcing the release from prison and arrival at Riga of Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, of Baltimore; one of the group of American who have been held in bolshevik prisons, state department officials expected additional developments which will pave the way for delivery of all the imprisoned Americans.

Reports from the Baltic states Saturday stated that the Russian government had agreed to release the American prisoners to secure food relief.

RUSSIAN REPLY
A reply to this effect is being sent here, it is announced, by Leo Kamenoff, head of the Russian famine relief committee. This may be a reply to both Secretary Hughes' demand on the soviet government for the release of Americans, and Herbert Hoover's message to Maxim Gorky, stating that Russia can secure food relief from this country only by releasing their prisoners.

Secretary Hughes, however, is expected to proceed cautiously in acting on any reply from the soviet government to his recent communication.

NO RECOGNITION
The soviet reply may suggest some sort of negotiations with the United States for the release of Americans, with the hope of securing American recognition. Such a reply would be turned aside by Hughes, it is understood. He has "demanded" the release of the Americans and the only acceptable reply from Russia would be their release, it is stated.

Russia may also strive to secure food relief before actually releasing the Americans, but Hughes also will be watchful for such a move as this.

Whether the Russian government expects the food relief which Herbert Hoover can give if the Americans are released to be extended after the soviet agreed to release the prisoners but has not actually done so, is not yet known. It is certain, however, that both Hoover and Hughes will demand that the Americans first be actually released before any step is taken to relieve the Russian famine.

INTERESTS MAYOR

Burkhardt to Accept Hendershot's Resignation
Immediately

Lima may have a safety director gratis, to fill the vacancy which will exist after tomorrow for the asking. This became known last night when Dr. A. S. Knisely, retired aurist surgeon and oil baron, offered his services to Mayor F. A. Burkhardt.

Dr. Knisely addressed a letter to the mayor last night, stating that he had read an interview in which it was stated that a good man for safety director could not be found at the meagre salary of $500 a year.

In his letter Knisely offered to accept the city portfolio for the five remaining months of Mayor Burkhardt's administration, "provided the mayor would keep his hands off the department and give the incumbent free rein to serve his city."

Knisely further offered to turn the entire salary back into the police and firemen's pension fund.

Friends at the Lima club started a petition to the mayor in behalf of Knisely for the position.

MAYOR IS INTERESTED
Mayor Burkhardt said last night that he had not been informed of this offer. He was interested in it, however.

"I have known Dr. Knisely for many years," he said. "I am looking for timber for the place and if Dr. Knisely is serious in his offer I will be pleased to have an interview with him. I certainly shall give such a tender the most careful consideration," the chief executive added.

Burkhardt announced that he would accept the resignation of C. M. Hendershot, who resigned after serving less than 20 days. This probably will be done Monday, he said. All matters which will require the attention of the out-going officials can be taken care of by that time, the mayor said.

A number of business men, when they learned of the offer of Dr. Knisely, expressed themselves as pleased with the proposal to the mayor. They declared Dr. Knisely should be complimented for offering his services gratis.

One city official to express himself was Councilman John Reed.

KING NOT CONSIDERED
Burkhardt said he had several men in mind to whom the job might be offered. He said it probably would not be given to his secretary, J. Norman King, who resides in Wapakoneta. King served temporarily after the resignation of Fred Fisher until Hendershot was appointed.

The mayor said King is ready to leave on his vacation and that he already has his hands full with his various duties as secretary to a number of officials and official bodies.

BANK LEASES SITE

American To Occupy Old Times-
Democrat Room On High-st.

Officials of the American bank yesterday signed a lease for three years for the room on W. High-st., formerly occupied by the Times-Democrat and now used as a downtown station by the Weinfeld cleaning establishment. The property is owned by O. B. Selfridge.

The bank will remodel the room and move into it January 1. It will be used as a home for the bank until it can secure possession of its own building, formerly the Holland block.

The bank will use the corner of the block it owns at High and Main-st., taking in the rooms occupied by the Central drug store, the old United Cigar Store room and that now used by the Postal Telegraph.

Lease of the Selfridge property was necessary because the Central drug store has a lease on its site which will not expire for nearly two and a half years.

The bank will fit the W. High-st. room up with a modern rest and other banking fixtures. It was announced yesterday. Weinfeld will move into an addition now being built at the main plant at North and Cole-sts.

SAYS HUSBAND IS SPENDTHRIFT

G. L. Rogers Squandered $10,000 Wife Testifies.

SOCIETY WEDDING RECALLED

Mrs. Rogers Given Divorce and Custody of Children.

Mrs. Edna Neely Rogers, 39, 461 S. Jamestown, was granted a divorce from Gregory L. Rogers, 38, ceramic engineer, Seattle, Wash., Saturday, in common pleas court, after testifying her husband had squandered $10,000 of the money left her by her father, the late J. D. S. Neely, millionaire oil operator.

Custody of their two children, Elizabeth Neely Rogers, 4, and Doris Ann Rogers, 2, was placed wholly with the wife. Rogers was given the privilege of visiting the children.

Rogers' dowry in part of Inlet 281, located on Ilghast, Columbus, was barred. This dowry, by agreement, will be decided to Rogers' two young daughters.

"We are asking no support from Rogers for her children," Attorney Harry L. Bentley, counsel for Mrs. Rogers, said. "Her husband is in Seattle today and may be in Kalamazoo tomorrow, but the court can do as it pleases about fixing the support."

Judge F. C. Becker held that despite the fact no court order was made to provide that Rogers must pay support money for his children, the law compels him to do so.

SOCIETY WEDDING RECALLED
Gregory L. Rogers and Edna Neely were principals in a pretentious wedding in Lima on October 28, 1914, at the Neely home, W. Spring-st.

Mrs. Rogers testified they went to spend their honeymoon in California and from that time forth, he became constant travelers. Her husband remained only for a short time with his job as ceramic engineer, she said; that he would be let out and was compelled to move to another place.

When he was out of work, they were compelled to seek Mrs. Neely's home here or Mrs. Rogers was forced to provide funds for their maintenance from her own purse, she said. She declared her husband was "locking only for a silver chair job."

"Five thousand dollars was the amount I had to pay after Gregory had cashed into the stock markets while we were in California and lost in gambling," Mrs. Rogers testified. She asserted she was compelled to provide her husband with money for making trips over the country, from New York to San Francisco, in order to secure a position and that she purchased clothing for him.

"Because he was persistent in having a vacation while working in Danville, Ill., he lost out," Mrs. Rogers related. "I was coming home, I didn't want Gregory to leave his position then, for he had been with the firm only a few weeks. He insisted on a vacation and when he went back, he had no job. Too many vacations and finding fault with persons employed near him cost him more than one job," was Mrs. Rogers' testimony.

The wife declared that she was humiliated and embarrassed by her husband borrowing money from their friends and never repaying it. When she could not understand why her bank account in Cincinnati was overdrawn, Mrs. Rogers discovered her husband had checked out funds to his account, she stated. When her motor car needed attention, she declared Rogers ordered the engine rebuilt and charged the bill to her, a total of $375.

RESENTS INSINUATION

He asked him if he was the father of Louis Ann," Mrs. Rogers testified. "I told him that was the second time I had insinuated that and I refused to live with him longer."

She told of incidents indicating the jealous disposition of her husband. Upon one occasion after these acts of jealousy, Rogers begged the pardon and forgiveness of his wife, testimony showed.

Jealousy upon one occasion was caused, Mrs. Rogers told the court, by presence of a young man, 18, a brother of Mrs. Rogers' intimate friend, in the social set in which they moved.

Mrs. J. D. S. Neely, testifying, declared she believed her daughter had done everything possible to make a happy home and that a reconciliation was not possible. For two years I kept them together and in trying to effect a reconciliation, I really knew I should not have done so," Mrs. Neely testified.

She told of her visits across the country she would make. Rogers' court for her, declaring things were not pleasant in their home. Upon arriving, Mrs. Neely said she would find all pleasant and happy.

She told of Rogers purchasing Victoria records and charging the bill to her. "I ordered it sent to him," Mrs. Neely said. "As I knew I had made no purchase, I had no Victoria."

While Mrs. Rogers told of the alleged short-comings of her husband and father of her children, the little girls played about the corridors adjacent to Judge Becker's office. Doris Ann brought her little dolly into court.

CHILDREN IN COURT

She interrupted her mother's testimony by saying, "Muvver, take me up." Both little girl and dolly were held by Mrs. Rogers as she testified. The couple separated September 20, last. Mrs. Rogers resides at 401 Jamestown-st. She filed her petition for divorce on June 7, last. Her husband secured legal counsel here and asked that her petition be made more definite. Mrs. Rogers had excluded detailed allegations from her first petition. In her amended petition, she was forced to reveal them.

However, settlement out of court was made affecting the property in Columbus and Rogers refused to contest the case. Mrs. Rogers must pay court costs attending the petition and hearing.

The case was heard in Judge Becker's private office shortly before the hour of twelve o'clock Saturday, with only a few persons present.

ATTENTION, BOY SCOUTS
All scouts, in uniform, are requested to meet at Epworth Methodist church at 10:30 Monday morning to attend funeral of Scout Everett Johnson, E. Stallsmith.

QUICK CHANCE OF HUSBANDS MADE BY SPENCERVILLE GIRL

The ink on the Common Pleas court docket, wherein Judge Becker recorded a divorce decree for Mrs. Irene Strohl from her husband Carl Strohl, was scarcely dry when Mrs. Strohl and Lawrence Graham Becker, Spencerville, appeared at the probate office for a marriage license.

"Will the decree permit of remarriage at once?" Attorney Oliver Kies asked Judge Becker, as soon as the divorce had been granted. There was no legal impediment to the marriage, the court announced. Mrs. Strohl was divorced on the grounds of neglect and restored to her former name of Orcutt.

She joined her lover in the court house corridor and hastened to probate court to secure a license. Judge Ernest M. Bodkin married them.

They gave their names as Lawrence Graham Becker, 32, coal pit man, and Irene Nora Orcutt, 19, housekeeper, both of Spencerville.

GERMAN FLAG HAS YELLOW STREAK

New Banner is Opposed As Symbol of Cowardice

(By FRANK E. MASON.)

BERLIN.—(International News Service.)—Germany is advertising herself as a nation with a "yellow streak" in the bitter complaint of E. C. Got in the Hamburger Fremdenblatt. "Do you know the English expression 'yellow streak'?" demands Herr Got. "You can readily find it in the English-German dictionary. It means a coward at heart."

The German national assembly declared that upon the creed that upon the warship the German seamen must hoist a flag with a broad yellow streak thru the middle. It must not only show the yellow streak to every foreign warship, but but raise it before every foreign fortification when he comes into the harbor.

The national assembly changed the imperial black-white-red flag to the republican black-gold-red banner. The change in the national colors has been the subject of bitter comments by the royalists, who explain: "Gold is for the past, red for the present and black for the future." But Herr Got sees in the gold stripe a yellow streak.

"Our flag will be the flag with the yellow streak" to everyone who understands the English language, which means most of the marine world. It will be considered the symbol of a people who are cowards at heart. The stripe, which is in the world in the eye, the stripe which from every flagstaff proclaims that Germany is a democratic and incidentally a coward folk. How long will it be until this coward people tear the yellow stripe from their flag and from their hearts?"

BIRD BRINGS NOTE FROM HARDING

All Well With Party On Way To Plymouth, Message Says.

WASHINGTON.—The Presidential yacht Mayflower, with President and Mrs. Harding and a party of distinguished guests on board, was beating up off the Jersey shores Saturday night on the last leg of the journey to Plymouth, Mass., for the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims. The party will reach Plymouth Monday morning.

Word here indicated the President was enjoying the long sea trip hugely, while the sea air was dissipating the last vestige of Mrs. Harding's indisposition.

A carrier pigeon, released from the Mayflower at 11:30 a. m., reached the naval flying station at Annapolis, with the following message at 4:55 o'clock:

"Fine voyage. All well. Mrs. Harding greatly refreshed. Making our schedule amid excellent conditions. Inspection this morning reveals fine crew aboard the Mayflower. Greetings to whole office force."

"A warm G. Harding."

After a day of entertainments and several speeches in Plymouth, Harding and some of the guests will continue up the coast in the yacht to Portland, Maine, where automobiles will pick up the party for a long ride to the summer home of Secretary of War Weeks, at Lancaster, N. H. Harding is not expected back here until a week from Sunday at the earliest.

1816 DIARY REVEALS N. Y. HAD SNOW-BOUND SUMMER

NAPLES, N. Y.—Perhaps if conditions of today had been on earth in the year 1816, especially in the summer of that period he would not be pestered so easily over a sudden rise in the temperature. It was revealed in a diary which was handed down from an earlier generation to John P. Coons, who recently died here, that the summer of 1816 was one of "ice and desolation."

In June of this year, reads the diary, we had half inch thick formed on the streams in Ontario creek and snow to a depth of three inches were recorded. The crops were destroyed and people wore heavy winter clothing. In the home grates and 30 old iron stoves brightly burned the one, two and three feet out and hickory logs to keep the cold out. There was much suffering. So severe was the frost that the efforts of farmers to raise crops were futile. The remaining "left over" from the 1815 corn crop brought $5 a bushel. Breadstuffs were prohibitive in price.

The "cold and icy" weather continued, more or less, until September of 1816, says the diary, which also makes known that the people "imagined that the heat of the sun had become exhausted."

TO TAKE SLAYER TO COLMBUS

Penitentiary Doors Will Open For Carl Hollenbacher.

TO BE TRANSFERRED MONDAY

Counsel Hopes to Have Him Returned to State Hospital.

Carl Hollenbacher, 28, convicted of the murder of his divorced wife, Pearl Burgess, in June, 1919, will be taken to the state penitentiary in Columbus Monday.

From there the next stop on his itinerary may be the Lima State Hospital, as immediately upon his arrival in Columbus Carl is to be examined by physicians to determine whether he is suffering from epilepsy. If it is established that such is the case, he will be committed to Lima hospital for criminal insane. The state will not oppose such procedure, Prosecutor Eugene Lippincott stated late Saturday.

That Hollenbacher has suffered from epileptic attacks since early childhood is the contention of Judge S. A. Armstrong, his counsel, who has waged a two year battle to save Carl from prison. After long months of waiting he at last sees success in prospect.

SUFFERED ATTACK IN JAIL

Dr. Herbert A. Thomas, jail physician, examined Carl following a mysterious night seizure in May. Carl had fallen from his bed in the night, striking and bruising his head and otherwise injuring himself. Dr. Thomas was called to see him about the following day. He stated at the time the Hollenbacher's ailment was caused by an epileptic attack, Carl's counsel said.

By this he explained, he meant that the illness was like epilepsy, but might not be such. Since then he has seen the patient a number of times, but has not observed any queer actions.

During the murder trial in 1919 and the earlier hearing last winter, a doctor was introduced to show that Carl had been subject to strange attacks since early youth. In all these years, according to his counsel, he was never examined by a physician after an attack, until Dr. Thomas was called to the court jail. It was then that the possible existence of epilepsy was discovered. Dr. Thomas recommended that he be transferred from the jail to other quarters.

After several conferences between Prosecutor Lippincott and the attorney, it was agreed that Carl should be taken to Columbus Monday. Once there, his condition will be determined by physicians. If they affirm the diagnosis of Dr. Thomas, the warden will be asked to send Hollenbacher to Lima state hospital.

On the contrary, if no evidence of epilepsy appears, Carl will be hauled back to the Allen-st. jail to await the outcome of his case in the higher courts. Motion for new trial is now pending.

STATE NOT CONVINCED

That Carl is subject to epilepsy is not admitted by the state, but if physicians at Columbus find that he is, Prosecutor Lippincott will make no effort to prevent his being sent to the state hospital for treatment. If ever cured, he could be sent to Columbus to serve his sentence.

The murder of Pearl Burgess was one of the most sensational in crime annals of Allen county. The woman was Hollenbacher's divorced wife. She was shot and killed in the garden in the rear of her mother's home in S. Park-av., following an unsuccessful attempt by Hollenbacher to persuade her to remarry him. Hollenbacher was convicted of the crime and given a life sentence by Judge William Klingler.

He was sent to Columbus, but after serving 11 months, his attorney obtained an order from the Supreme court directing that he be tried for his sanity. That trial was held before Judge Daniel Hays at Ottawa, in February of 1921. The proceedings lasted four days and resulted in the jury finding him sane.

Since that time, a motion for retrial on the sanity charge has been over-ruled and a motion for a new trial on the original indictment of murder was filed in appeals court.

IS FINED $1,000

Still and Whiskey Found On Daily's Premises.

Pete Daily, 142 E. Murray-st., was found guilty Saturday afternoon of having and operating an illicit still, by Judge Jackson's police court. He was fined $1,000. The still was ordered wrecked. A quart of corn whiskey, confiscated by police, was destroyed upon the order of the judge, immediately after the trial.

Daily was arrested Friday night at his home. Police say they found the still in operation when they raided his place, about 11 o'clock. A large quantity of mash was also found. The still was being operated, police say, in a shed at the rear of the house.

Daily maintained throughout the trial he was innocent of the charge. When asked if he knew the still was on his premises, he admitted it, but denied having anything to do with it himself and declared that he did not know who operated the still.

MYSTERIOUS MURDERS UNEARTHED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO.—Wagging tongues of neighbors led to the discovery of the murder of two persons here Saturday night.

Authorities overheard neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kolze of Belvoir park, say that there is "something strange about the death of Fred and his wife."

Investigation showed the body of Kolze who died recently contained enough arsenic to kill ten persons. The body of his wife who died eight years ago was exhumed and traces of arsenic were also found.

POLICEMAN'S LIFE NOT HUMDRUM WHEN A BLAZE OCCURS

Policeman Webb Harrison patrols a beat in the west side residential district. He approached Springs-st. from Baxter. A hot night, nothing to do and a host of mosquitoes following in his wake, combined to make Webb wonder if a patrolman's life was worth while. Then he got his big chance.

He saved a residence from possible destruction—and decided a policeman's existence wasn't so bad after all.

It was the home of Mrs. Leah Miller Butler, Spring and Baxter-sts. Harrison neared the residence as the last gusts of a firestorm entered the house. Mr. Butler had entertained the frantic efforts of a girl and the society matron to quench a fire originating from a Chinese lantern, part of a set used for decoration under an awning. The awning was afire.

"Loose, quick," This from Harrison. "No use. House too short." This also from Harrison after much perspiring in a huge effort to stretch the hose.

"No other house?" he asked. "Somebody remembered the neighbor next door had used one earlier in the evening."

This was long enough. No damage resulted.

QUIET SEASON IN BUILDING WORK

Contracts Far Below Normal Period of Improvement.

Total cost of building construction work let to Lima contractors up to date this year will approximate $1,000,000, according to the statement of Ora M. Green, secretary of the Lima Builders' Exchange. During normal seasons the average amount of construction work is more than $2,000,000, he stated.

Only a small part of the building this season is residence property. A tight money market prevents really men and home builders from obtaining loans necessary to finance construction.

It was stated by Green that his company had secured contracts valued at about $100,000 in and around Lima. A goodly portion is municipal and county work, including North-st. bridge, to be finished in two weeks and work at the Children's home.

The Lima Construction company has fared well, considering what is termed a dull season. W. J. Fitzgerald, superintendent, declared. This firm secured contracts worth $200,000. Included in the list are Elm-st. bridge, Neely building, in S. Elizabeth-st., Lima Sheet Metal plant, Charles-st. and Pennsylvania railroad; Herbert building, N. Elizabeth-st.; the Barr Hotel addition, Lima; Telephone company conduit extension; Lima Packing company boiler room.

The present year has been ideal for grading work, Fitzgerald asserts.

STARVING PEOPLE EATING RATS

Vast Region of Russia Now Vast House of Death.

REVAL.—Starvation has driven famine-stricken Russians to eating field rodents and any vegetation that promises the least nutriment, according to dispatches received here Saturday night.

The great farming region of the Volga river has become a vast house of death, according to these reports. The starving peasants were said to have set snares in the fields to capture tiny animals which they can use to sustain life.

Grass is eaten ravenously. Acorns are prized and other districts reported the inhabitants trying to eat sawdust which they mixed with a handful of flour when the latter could be found.

From several districts it was reported that hunger stricken men and women were so weak they could walk only a few steps without collapsing. Some recovered and staggered on. Others never arose. The districts where cholera has broken out death was so common as to awaken no emotion.

German colonists in the Volga region appealed to their former homes for aid. Some of them set out in the countless caravans which are tottering out from the farm region to the boundary country.

In some of the larger cities, especially in the west, where there are slight food stocks, rationing still exists. Work was said to have stopped practically everywhere. Farmers saw no good in continuing in the fields; work in the cities brought no more food.

In retrograde the food allowance was said to be a pound of bread daily, a quarter pound of sugar monthly, a pound of dried fish monthly, while no potatoes are available.

U. S. SUPREME COURT CLERK TAKEN BY DEATH

WASHINGTON.—Henry C. McKenny, acting clerk of the supreme court of the United States and in the employ for 32 years, died in a hospital here Saturday following an operation for stomach trouble.

McKenny who was 70 years old came into the employ of the court in 1849 and steadily rose until the highest office in its service was within his grasp. He was a close friend of many of the biggest lawyers of the country for more than a quarter of a century.

MEN AND MATTERS.

Otto Heil, N. West-st., and Joseph Woerner, N. West-st., will leave Sunday morning for Cincinnati where they will attend the Red Men's convention, as representatives of Lima lodge. The convention will be held during this week.

R. E. Ashley, advertising manager of The News, and family leave Sunday for a vacation in Erie, Franklin and On City, Pennsylvania.

SAFER PAY BOOST NOT LIKELY

Council Not Disposed To Vote More Money Now.

EXPECT QUIET COUNCIL MEET

Questions To Come Before Body Monday Night.

Whether city council will favor the recommendation to increase the salary of safety director to $1,500 a year, which Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt proposes to make Monday night, is problematical.

The matter has been up numerous times before in the past 18 months and has persistently been turned down. Shortly following the appointment of C. N. Henderson as safety director, Mayor Burkhardt brought the matter of increasing the pay before council. It was given scant consideration. Councilman Harry Brice spoke against the recommendation, and did other councilmen.

INCREASE NOT PROBABLE
There is little reason to believe that council as a whole will view the matter differently Monday night, altho it is admitted competent men are difficult to secure for $50 a month.

Councilman John Reed, of the Third ward, stated Saturday his belief that few members of council will favor holding the pay for the remaining five months of the year.

"We have a good safety director," he stated, "and could not find a way to raise his pay. For that reason I am against handing someone else more money for the short time he would serve."

Reed believes that other members are of the same opinion.

QUIET SESSION EXPECTED

A tranquil session Monday night was predicted by councilmen Saturday. Few important matters are to be considered. The ordinance providing for a clerk for Chief of Police is due to come up for its third reading. To date council has not indicated how the measure will be finally disposed of.

A recommendation from the service director asking council to authorize an advance draw on the automobile license fund, is due to be presented. The money is needed for street repair, it is stated.

THREE WIVES WIN DIVORCES

Domestic Tragedies Aired In Judge Becker's Court.

Tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mrs. Clara M. Rader to Alvin H. Rader was celebrated by her appearance in common pleas court Saturday to reiterate the story of an unhappy life, in an effort to secure a divorce.

Mrs. Rader told Judge Becker her husband threatened his home and did not wish to longer maintain a domestic life. His wife was given a decree on grounds of neglect. She must pay court costs. The couple have no children.

Nora B. Wilkins was given a divorce from Edward Wilkins, on the ground of neglect. His whereabouts are unknown. She was decreed $100.00, McPherson and Phillips' addition to Lima, a lot in Carthage, Hamilton-co., and $1,000 worth of household goods as alimony.

The couple were married on Decoration Day, 1896, and have no living children. Mrs. Wilkins testified her husband admitted associations with other women.

Mrs. Vellou Swallow was granted a divorce from George Swallow on the grounds of neglect and restored to her former name of Swaney. Mrs. Swallow testified her husband provided no home for her and they moved about from place to place. The couple married on May 3, 1915, resided last at 429 Pearl-st.

MOTHER ON TRIAL

Los Angeles Girl Accused Of Killing Her Baby.

LOS ANGELES.—Erie Mullcane, girl mother, accused of murdering her few-hours-old baby, must spend another week-end in prison.

Erie's freedom is conceded to be only a matter of days. The state is making no effort to convict her. But the prosecution has started and the red tape of the law demands that it must build up its case and finish before the jury can formally free the young woman.

The state has paused in its perfunctory prosecution on several occasions to ask the court to dismiss the case.

Superior Judge Houser, however, has held that it is the province of the jury, not the prosecution or the court, to hold the girl blameless.

Dr. Lewis Webber was on the witness stand as the case closed its session Saturday. Dr. Webber testified as to the young woman's physical condition at the time her child was born. All symptoms, he declared, were to insanity.

The name of Welmer McComb, whom Erie alleges to be the father of her dead baby, was brought into the case only once during the course of the trial.

McComb is an official of the leading bank of a Missouri town and also a prominent church man.

It is expected that the case will be concluded Monday.

LOW PRICES OFFERED FOR WOODEN STEAMERS

WASHINGTON.—The man who is considering the purchase of a medium priced automobile may be able to get himself a nice wooden seagoing ship, if he means Saturday to the Shipping Board mean anything. The board received bids ranging in price from $500 for one whup up to $10,000,000 for the entire fleet of 285 vessels. The $10,000,000 bid was withdrawn.

It is believed that the highest bids will be accepted, as a strong demand exists in congress for the disposal of the vessels, which have been lying idle in the James river in Virginia, at Seattle, Washington and others places since they were built.

SPELLACY RITES ON MONDAY

Mass At St. Rose Church—Burial In Los Angeles.

Mass for the repose of the soul of the late Timothy Spellacy, whose death occurred here Thursday, will be held Monday morning at St. Rose Catholic church. In case it is found mass can be celebrated at 9 o'clock and the cortege will arrive at the Pennsylvania station in time for the train which will transport the body and departs shortly after 10 a. m., it will be conveyed to the church.

Otherwise, mass will be said at 7:30 o'clock, without the body in church.

Mr. Spellacy was a member of Lima Lodge No. 54, B. P. O. Elks, and altho absent more than 15 years, never changed his membership, which remained with the lodge here.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus in Los Angeles and of the Wilshire California golf clubs, as well as the Jonathan club of that city.

Funeral services and burial will be in Los Angeles, Calif. While no definite word has been received, the arrival of his two brothers, Martin and Peter Spellacy, and of a sister, Mrs. Mary Mooney, all of Los Angeles, is expected Sunday morning.

Hundreds of letters and telegrams were received by the widow and her two sons, who are in the city, and with beautiful floral offerings, tokens of regard from friends of the deceased in various parts of the country.

Hundreds of people pass in and out of the Spellacy home, having called to view the body and to express words of condolence, personally, to the widow and members of the family.

The body is resting at the home of his brother, Simon Spellacy, 628 W. North-st.

NEW PASTOR FOR ST. GERARD'S

Rev. Clark Succeeds Rev. Behr, Now In Rochester, N. Y.

The Rev. Father James P. Clark, missionary in the east since the close of the war, is here to assume his duties as pastor of St. Gerard's Catholic church, at the Sunday masses. He succeeds the Rev. Father John G. Behr, who has gone to Rochester, N. Y., to become pastor of one of the oldest and largest Redemptorist churches there.

The Rev. Father Clark resided in Boston and Philadelphia before coming to Lima, where he did efficient work, according to reports received here. He arrived in Lima Wednesday and on Thursday the Rev. Father Behr departed for his new field of labor.

The Rev. Father Clark served as chaplain for a year in the world war. He was stationed for many months at Gerstner, La., and also served at Shelby, Miss. He was given the official title of Lieutenant-Chaplain.

It was while the Rev. Father Clark was stationed at Gerstner, La., that the death of Mayor Mitchell of New York City, occurred. The mayor was flying in an air-plane there. He was not properly strapped into the machine and fell from the plane while in mid-air.

The new priest is a brilliant speaker. He states his first impression of Lima is most happy and that he is well satisfied at having been sent here.

PICK UP SCIENTIST'S MESSAGE IN BEER BOTTLE AT SEA

PORTLAND, Ore.—A sealed beer bottle, containing a card with nautical markings and instructions asking the finder to mail it to the address thereon was picked up on the Oregon coast after a six years' journey from Japan and turned over to the Japanese Consul here. It was one of the many cast adrift by the Japanese Imperial fisheries station at Hakkaiko, island of Yeso, to test the coastal currents of that vicinity, according to the consul.

The hieroglyphics on the card indicated the bottle had floated probably north until caught in the cold current coming down from Bering Straits, had then perhaps been carried nearly to the equator, where it was picked up by the northward flowing current that warms the Pacific slope and had been blown by a gale to the Oregon coast.

At the consulate it was said no other such bottles had been reported and customs men at Astoria, on the Oregon coast, likewise declared there was a rare one.

Even so, the beach comber who picked up the bottle in this land of prohibition refused to be enticed by it. A Japanese postcard is of little use to a man with a thirst, he opined.

JOHN JONATHAN FUNERAL
Funeral services for Everett Johnson, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, 728 E. Albert-st., will be held Monday at 10 a. m. at Epworth Methodist church, instead of at the residence, as first planned. The Rev. W. A. Deaton, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

2 SACKS OF MAIL RECOVERED

Auto Believed Used By Gangster In Their Getaway.

PITTSBURG.—Postal authorities upon the recovery of two sacks of common mail Saturday, expressed the belief that nothing of value had been stolen from the mail car at Pennsylvania lines near the Calumet tunnel, Saturday morning.

Postal inspectors from Philadelphia, Altoona and Pittsburgh were urged to aid in their search for the mail by state trooper and police. T. J. Mountain, district where the mail jumped from the train, after forcing the engineer to stop, is being sought but no trace of the hand is found.

CHANDLER SIX

July, 1913

$1785

July, 1921

It was a five-passenger touring then. It was a new car and a good one. It sold for $1785. Many of the Chandlers built that year are still in active service.

The big, handsome, powerful seven-passenger Chandler of today, developed and refined as these years have passed, would have sold for twice as much then. It sells for $1785 now.

The Chandler policy then was high quality at low price, and that is the policy now, always has been and always will be.

Other cars of many kinds and many motors have come and gone in those eight years, while the Chandler lives and multiplies its friendships.

Greatest Value in Europe and America,
Say World's Motor Car Experts

If it were possible to take a census of public opinion in Europe and America, experienced judgment would overwhelmingly pronounce the Cadillac far and away the greatest motor car value in the world.

English, French, and Italian engineers have unhesitatingly admitted as much—the first American motorist you meet on the street, no matter whether he owns a Cadillac or not, will instantly register the same opinion.

There could not be such a solid body of conviction if every Cadillac did not deliver everything that is conceded to it by the motorists of the world.

It is the aim and the ambition of every manufacturer of good cars in America to secure a share of the overwhelming preference conceded to the Cadillac.

Yet the Cadillac ownership remains substantially unmoved; public opinion at home and abroad remains unconvincing; and the Cadillac continues to be considered by common agreement, the greatest outstanding motor car value in the world.

The simple reason is that the Cadillac case is proven—not once but tens of thousands of times, and by 110,000 eight-cylinder cars; not by a few years, but by eighteen years; not by promise, but by performance which is without peer or parallel.

WILLYS-KNIGHT

The efficiency and safety of this simple forged steel steering knuckle is typical of the detail refinements of the Willys-Knight car.

A Car At Home With Republicans, Democrats and Kings!

It is so simple that repairs are almost never needed—and when they are, any mechanic anywhere can make them economically.

Its oiling system is so perfect in all temperatures that there is practically no wear on its sleeve valves after tens of thousands of miles.

Its patented sleeve valve motor is manufactured on license by only a few manufacturers in America and the finest motor car builders of Europe.

It has no cams, no springs, no valves to grind—no parts that weaken. It grows more powerful with use.

The car in every detail is built to reflect the economy and dependability of the motor.

JUDGE BECKER TO HAVE VACATION

Common Pleas Jurist to Travel Old National Trail.

Judge F. C. Becker, of the Allen-co court of common pleas, will leave Tuesday on his annual vacation, with his family, which will be spent following the old national trail on a motor trip. This will take the party thru Washington, Gettysburg, Philadelphia and other historical cities. They will be gone three weeks.

During the absence of Judge Becker, Judge E. R. Eastman, Ottawa, will come to Lima every Thursday morning to hear court matters which cannot wait for the return of the resident jurist.

Judge Becker emphatically denied that he had been advised by physicians to seek a rest. "I am in perfect health," he said, "but I have worked continuously since taking office and feel I am entitled to this vacation."

"I am not going to motor down, in the true sense of the word, but am going to drive my Tin Lizzie, for you know my car is just an ordinary Ford, with a winter top."

Judge Becker will be accompanied by his wife and her brother, W. E. Jones, and daughter, Miss Elma May Jones.

TEACHING FORCE FOR ALLEN-CO SCHOOLS IS ASSURED FOR FALL TERM

The Allen-co schools should have a very successful year. Practically all the teachers have been appointed, according to County School Superintendent C. A. Argabright. The few vacancies that exist can easily be filled after the examinations to be held late in August or the first week of September, it is believed.

It has been much easier to secure teachers this year, according to reports. Plans are being laid for the teachers' institute in September. Authorities expect to make this year's institute bigger and better than formerly.

New laws passed by the General Assembly have practically assured sufficient financial aid for all county schools. Special levies can be authorized by the people to practically any amount under the new laws.

No financial trouble is expected this year. Last year there was a little difficulty in a few districts, but this has been eliminated. The county board has no intention of constructing new buildings this year, as none are needed at present.

The curriculum will remain the same as formerly, with the students being graded the same as in the city schools.

ELECTROCUTED BY PHONE
BRISTOL, TENN.—Captain W. D. Haynes, well-known conductor on the Norfolk and Western railway, was electrocuted when he attached a portable telephone to an automatic block wire, mistaking it for the telephone wire, near Glade Springs, Va. Haynes was trying to communicate with the dispatcher at Roanoke.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION DOES NOT HAMPER W. O. FREIGHT MOVEMENT

Traffic in and out of the Western Ohio freight station, which construction of a sewer in E. Wayne-st. threatened to block, was assured when it was arranged in a conference between W. J. Irwin, contractor and C. O. Sullivan traffic manager to move the ditching machine out of the way each night.

Most of the freight coming into Lima is moved after 6 p. m. Manager Sullivan stated, and by having the lines clear at night no inconvenience will be experienced. Passengers on city lines in Wayne-st. will have to transfer from one car to another while the sewer is under construction. The inconvenience will be temporary.

LIMA BOY TO ENGAGE IN "Y" WORK IN DULUTH

Stanley Blunk, W. North-st., will leave Wednesday for Duluth, Minnesota, to take a position as first assistant physical director in the Central Y. M. C. A. there.

Blunk is an all around athlete and assistant at the local Y. M. C. A. for eight months. He graduated from the Central High school this year where he was a leader in athletics and captain of the football team. He was a first team man in football and basketball in 1919-1920 and had a good athletic record in the navy several years ago.

KIWANIS PLANS TO HOLD "HOT WEATHER" MEET

The Kiwanis club will hold a "hot weather" meeting next Thursday, the greater part of the time to be spent in singing club songs. The last fifteen minutes of the meeting L. S. Galvin will address the members on "International Trade Relations."

The club will practice special songs in preparations for the Ohio district convention to be held here in September. Plans will also be formulated for the picnic near New Bremen, which will be held on August 18th.

HOGS ARE BURNED IN BARN FIRE

Structure on Dan Howell Farm
Near Wapak Destroyed

KIWANIS CLUB TO PICNIC

F. W. Langhorst Has Trouble Regaining Money.

WAPAKONETA.—Fire, starting from sparks from a passing B. & O. R. R. locomotive, burned a barn belonging to Dan Howell four miles north of here. The structure contained 15 tons of hay, feed, machinery and other farm necessities. Two hogs were burned alive. The loss was not estimated.

It is probable that a local industry, the M. Brown Co., may undertake the manufacture of a concrete leveling device invented and patented by Frank Lee. After being properly introduced the M. Brown Co. may manufacture it, one of the factory heads declared.

1,000 BOYS JOIN SCOUT CAMP

French Lads From Devastated Lands Are Members

INDIAN CHIEF IS INSTRUCTOR

Men From Many Countries Are Teaching Sports

PARIS. — (By International News Service) — Through the co-operation of the three French scouting organizations, Les Eclaireurs de France, Les Scouts de France, Les Eclaireurs Unis de France and the American Committee for Devastated Lands, about 1,000 Frenchmen and boys, especially from the devastated areas of the Alsace, are having an opportunity this summer of attending a Boy Scout camp, where they are being taught the principles of scouting and how to become scout leaders.

The two camps, which will operate from July 17 to September 8, at La Croix St. Omer, near Compiègne (Oise) and "Corty" (Aisne), respectively, will be the largest scout camps ever held in France.

Mr. Louis W. Barclay, National Director of Education of Boy Scouts in the United States, has come to France, at the invitation of the Minister of Foreign Affairs, to represent the American Boy Scouts and to collaborate with representatives of the French Scout Organizations in the direction of the summer camps. In addition, sixteen American men, many of them college students, have volunteered their services as assistants at the camp schools. Among them are Henry Cabot Lodge, from Harvard; grandson of Senator Lodge; Paul North and Jack Danforth of Princeton; Alusley Newman and Barry Rich of Yale. Some of these boys are working their way over on ships of the U. S. Shipping Board.

Chief Big Hawk, of the Seneca tribe of Indians, has accepted the invitation to instruct the French boys in Indian lore, woodcraft and outdoor work. The National Welfare Council, represented at the French camps by George Boyle, and the Dominion Boy Scout Association of Canada is represented by Mr. Labille, of Ottawa, Canada. Dr. D'Elboul, of Temple University, Philadelphia, has charge of the camp sanitation.

Many of the boys of the camps are the sons of French soldiers who were killed in the war. The French Scouts, who, in answer to an appeal sent to them by Miss Anne Morgan, of New York, have started a campaign to raise $25 each to send a representative French boy from some village in the devastated region to one of the two camps as guest of this troop.

The main leaders for the camps were furnished by the French Scouting organizations, and leaders from Great Britain, Belgium, Canada and the United States have been invited to join. The French leaders specialize in pioneering and nature study and the Americans in athletics, scout games, boxing, wrestling, swimming, water sports and life-saving and first aid.

The Committee of Direction for the two summer scout camps has Mrs. A. Murray Dike as president and Miss Anne Morgan as vice-president. The Committee on Technique is composed of Lorne W. Barclay, M. Guerin-Delord, M. J. Laisseau, M. L'Abbe Sevin and M. H. Gorceux.

Last year the American Committee organized a Boy Scout Camp at Francport, in the Forest of Compiègne, where 261 boys received training in scouting. At the invitation of the French Government, 350 American Boy Scouts came from America to visit the camp and the battlefields of France.

INDIAN PRINCE WITH 2 WIVES TO VISIT U. S.

PARIS.—The Maharaja of Holkar, ruler of Indore, an ally of the British, plans to visit the United States this fall if the immigration authorities will permit him to bring in his two wives.

The Maharaja intends to negotiate for the purchase of a large amount of rolling stock for the railways of Indore. He believes American railway interests will see to it that he has no trouble because of a superfluity of spouses.

Since he arrived in Paris with fifty servants the Maharaja is said to have spent more than $20,000 a day. He occupies an entire floor of a big Paris hotel, has bought seven automobiles for himself and his wives and has showered money among the jewelry shops of the Rue de la Paix. Recently he leased the chateau of Dr. Maurice Lestour, a wealthy physician.

The Maharaja was a great admirer of Theodore Roosevelt. One of his first acts on arriving in France was to motor to Chantilly, where he laid a wreath on the grave of Quentin Roosevelt.

20 PERSONS INJURED IN GAS EXPLOSIONS

MINEAPOLIS, Minn. — Gas leaks in underground conduits caused a series of severe explosions in Minneapolis Saturday night.

Twenty persons suffering from shock, bruises and lacerations were in the general hospital at midnight. The explosion occurred at 11 o'clock when a small gas leak in a street and a large one in a building followed and flames shot twenty feet in the air. Explosions occurred in various parts of the downtown district.

PLANETS ACQUIRED

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is not to blame for the excessive heat this summer, according to Professor Ralph Currier, of the University of Michigan. The heat thrown out by other planets is small as to be almost negligible, the professor declares. The two planets are several million miles distant and that they only seem to be approaching closer because they are in a line with the earth. Not are comets to blame, the Michigan scientist declares, for the torrid waves.

CHANCE OF BEING STRUCK BY LIGHTNING IS ONE IN MILLION CLAIMS EXPERT

WASHINGTON. — When the lightning flashes and the thunder booms your chance of being struck is just one in a million.

That is the expert opinion expressed by W. J. Humphreys, of the Seismological Department of the Weather Bureau. Figure it out—some hundred million people in the country and an annual lightning death toll of not more than 100.

Does it make any difference whether you live in one part of the country or another? Get this: On the Pacific Coast records show that the annual thunderstorm schedule provides for rarely more than two or three performances. In the South, Florida, especially, thunderstorms are much more frequent, but less dangerous, because of the fact that the clouds usually travel higher in that section.

The chances one runs of being struck, Mr. Humphreys observes, are not as great as those taken by daily riders on street cars. There are more than one hundred accidents on street cars during a year, but the total number of riders per year by the country's population reduces the percentage of chance.

"There is actual danger in thunderstorms," declares Humphreys, "enough to warrant the individual taking ordinary precautions. But there is no justification for the fear experienced by the average person when the flash and noise of the storm come."

He advises seeking shelter, preferably in a steel-frame building. If in the open, keep away from barbed-wire fences, isolated trees and hills.

IRISH PRISONERS TO BE FREED

Next Step In The British Movement For Peace.

DUBLIN.—The release of still more Irish war prisoners appeared to be in prospect Saturday night.

The understanding became general that Sinn Féin's imprisoned leaders will be released before next Thursday or Friday. This action would remove much of the tension which still exists in South Ireland. No man is "on the run" now but there still are many prisoners, it was believed the release of Dail Eireann members and other leaders might be accepted as a promise for the freedom of lesser prisoners.

It is believed here that "President" De Valera will call a meeting of the full Dail Eireann before Thursday or Friday. He has been informed that imprisoned members will be released for the conference.

There was a feeling in some circles that if the Dail Eireann meets, it will be largely to accept the release of prisoners.

There is plenty of evidence that De Valera and his active counselors are agreed on the answer to be made to the British peace offer.

Submission to the Sinn Féin Parliament would be largely a formality and a courtesy.

HEART DISEASE CURABLE BY OPERATION, IS CLAIM OF LONDON PHYSICIAN

LONDON. — Will the doctors of the future cure heart disease by operation?

A astonishing case of a woman of sixty-two who was made much better for her remaining six years of life is revealed in the British Medical Journal.

She had been suffering for four years from a swelling in the main artery near the heart. Dr. Theodore Tuffler, a well known surgeon, after an X-ray examination, granted her request and consented to operate.

Professor Renon, who was present, records how the swelling of soft growth which began only a finger's breadth from the heart itself and was two inches long, was isolated and bound round so as slightly to lessen the passage of the artery. Dr. Tuffler states that the patient was for four years afterward freed from functional troubles and died last year from an ailment not attributed to the heart.

"The feasibility of the operation has been established," Renon reports.

"This case," says the Journal, "indicates a short step forward toward the period foretold by Lauder Brunton, a celebrated English doctor who died in 1916, when 'irremediable' conditions associated with heart and blood vessel disease shall successfully be brought within the realm of surgery."

WINDJAMMERS RACE FROM SOUTH AMERICA

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. — Two races between two fleets of windjammers terminated at this port recently, recalling the olden days of sailing competition on the high seas. The barkentine, Alicia Havaside, with her arrival here, captured the laurels in the sailing contest from west coast ports of South America. She easily outdistanced her sister barkentine, the Katherine Mackall and the Phyllis Comyn.

In the other contest the schooner Meteor made the best time in the run up from the South Sea Islands, making port first and beating the time of the Little Bennett and the James Tuff. By strange coincidence neither of the three craft saw the others on the long passage until just off this port.

The Alicia Havaside was not scheduled to come into this port. She was due off the lightship for orders and was instructed to proceed to Bethlehem, Washington. Captain Hamilton, of the Alicia Havasides, however, because of a shortage of provisions came into the harbor.

'ADAMLESS' EDEN IN MISSOURI

Two Women Run Prosperous "Manless" Farm

ARE GRADUATES OF CORNELL

Use Modern Methods In Dairy And Poultry Yard

By KENT WATSON
DE SOTO, Mo. — (International News Service) — The "Adamless Eden," fifty-five acres in area, has been created near here. "Manned" entirely by Miss Alice L. Peck, of Batavia, New York, and Miss Anne P. Fisher, of St. Louis, Cedarbrook Farm is becoming famous thruout the great Southwest.

The novel idea of having an utterly "manless" farm was born at Cornell, of which university the owners of the place are graduates. The science of farming is bringing dividends with good health, both Miss Peck and Miss Fisher declare.

Out over their vast expanse of unpolluted air, the two women look with pleasure upon growing crops that yield up young fortunes each year. Located in a valley at the foot of the Ozarks, the "Adamless Eden" is one of the most fruitful sections of Missouri.

Berries and fruit especially thrive in the soil of the Ozarks. Money gained from such crops, the two young women have proved to pioneer farmers of the section, rolls up a larger bank account than would ordinary crops.

Miss Peck, a trained horticulturist, is the "man" of the place. She supervises the work of growing the crops. Miss Fisher, a specialist in domestic science, does the canning of jams and jellies that bring shekels rolling into the coffers of Cedarbrook.

Ten acres of the little farm are given over to the growing of fruits and berries, eighteen acres are of woodland, with fifteen sowed in oats and corn. The remaining twelve comprise pasture and a yard for the farmhouse.

A small dairy is the pride of Miss Peck. There hold forth the denizens of tested purebred Jersey stock.

WEAR ARMY CLOTHES. The corn of the poultry yard falls to Miss Fisher, who permits nothing but purebred Barred Rock pullets and roosters to peck food from the gravelly pen in which they live and produce.

While Miss Peck has been busy during two years of residence on the farm, in influencing De Soto farmers to introduce modern methods into their farm work, Miss Fisher has shown housewives the latest and most modern methods of canning and drying vegetables and fruit.

The detail of farm labor is performed by the two young women attired in army trousers and regulation shirts. After the chores of the day have been completed, Misses Peck and Fisher take "Enjah" and go for a ride. "Enjah" is their Ford car.

Nature is the hallmark of good health is the philosophy of the "lady farmers." They serve their meals under the canopy of heaven and sleep on the front porch thruout the year.

"Joy comes from healthful work," declares Miss Peck. "There is no lethargy here next to nature. My health was poor when I decided that I would live longer on a farm. Nothing succeeds like profiting in health."

INTER-CITY POLICE WIRELESS SOON TO BE IN OPERATION

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. — Communication via wireless between police departments over the country in an effort to capture fugitive criminals will soon become a reality, according to Chief Dan O'Brien, of the San Francisco Police Department.

Chief O'Brien appointed a member of a committee, named the recent international convention of police chiefs in St. Louis, to work out plans for the installation of such a system, which it is claimed will make the apprehension of criminals more rapid as well as less expensive. The plan is to install a wireless connection between all large cities and use code entirely when furnishing a description of the criminal wanted.

By the wireless plan all cities could be furnished information concerning the person wanted simultaneously, which would eliminate much time now lost through telegraphing every city.

Tentative plans looking into the establishment of a wireless network will be taken up in the near future, Chief O'Brien announced.

GIGANTIC CLOUD OF DARK GAS FOUND IN HEAVENS

LONDON. — The existence of inconceivably vast object in the heavens has been demonstrated by a Dutch scientist, Dr. A. Pannekoek.

Its mass, he says, is twenty thousand million times greater than that of the sun itself, and it can be described as a celestial gas cloud.

Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin, who contributes a paper on the subject to "Nature," says the discovery "seems" to make it desirable to re-discuss the dynamics of the solar system. According to Dr. Pannekoek's estimate, this huge dark body is 100,000,000,000 miles in length and twice that distance away from the solar system. It is situated in the constellation of Taurus, and shows as a dark area to the right of Orion's belt.

Dr. Pannekoek works on the assumption that it is a gigantic cloud of dark gas and his figures as to its mass are greater than many estimates of the combined mass of the whole universe itself.

Another scientist, Professor De Sitter, suggests that the body may consist of dust instead of gas, in which case the mass would be much less. Viewed from the earth, the dark body occupies one-third of a line drawn down from the Pole star to the sky line.

VETERANS TO BUILD HOME FOR WOMAN WHO LOST THIRTEEN IN WORLD WAR

SEATTLE, Wash. — Mrs. Emma Wilkins, war widow, soon will have her own little home, built by the American buddies of her "men folk," 55 all of whom were killed in the war.

Mrs. Wilkins' husband, six sons, four stepsons, her brother and her brother-in-law — an oil those to whom she could look for care during her old age — were killed while fighting with the English army. Food prices were high, rents were far beyond feeble efforts to earn enough money to live on. There seemed no other way than to accept charity or go to the poor house.

But there came a rift in the clouds and a ray of sunshine darted thru. To shine upon a bright, cheerful wife for this war mother, who had given all she had for her country.

The Seattle War Veterans of Foreign Wars heard of her plight and decided to take care of her for the rest of her life, not as an act of charity, but as a duty to the mother of their soldier-brothers.

So they obtained a lot, donated by a Seattle real estate firm. A "grading party" was held with "nobody barred." There were picks and shovels for all who wanted to wield them. Soon the house will be built and completely furnished. It is located near the Fort Lawton military barracks, where she can hear the bugle calls and be close to the soldier boys she loves.

The Veterans will furnish her with provisions for the rest of her life, but Mrs. Wilkins has room on her lot for a little garden and she probably will keep some chickens.

It is going to be "home" and "Mother" Wilkins is happy, despite her past trials, for there is no place in the world as would rather be than near a military post, she says.

FARMERS IN DRIVE

Join The Crusade Against High Freight Rates.

COLUMBUS. — Farmers have joined the crusade against high freight rates.

The first step in this direction was an appeal from farmers to the Ohio farm bureau federation for a lower rate on agricultural limestone.

The agricultural college extension service of Ohio State University was co-operating with the farmers in securing data to be used in a petition to the Central Freight association, meeting in Chicago August 3. The petition will apply to agricultural limestone, limestone meal and limestone screenings.

The data will show that Ohio carriers charges exceed those charged by Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana roads. In event direct relief cannot be obtained from the roads, the matter will be placed before the Public Utilities commission.

4 KILLED IN WRECK

Auto Hit By Big Four Train In Illinois.

NOKOMIS, Ill. — Five persons are dead as the result of an accident in which their automobile was struck by a Big Four flyer, at a grade crossing, near here, late Saturday.

Four of the party were instantly killed and the fifth died later at a hospital.

The dead: Leslie Smith and wife; Miss Lucille Perkins and Miss Cora Robertson, all of Hillsboro; Miss Irene Kuntz of Pana. Miss Kuntz died in the Pana hospital after being picked from the wreckage of the automobile.

PASTOR DEFENDS MODERN WORLD

"Not Growing Worse," Declares Detroit Minister

GIRLS GOOD AS FORMERLY

Unusual Is What Causes Gossip Is Claim

By W. R. STOKLEY
DETROIT. — (International News Service) — World going to the dogs? Think not?

That the old world and all those on it are headed for the general bow-wow seems to be the idea of about everyone these days.

The Catholic Daughters of America, in national convention here, said that divorce, birth control, agitation and modern dress, etc., indicated decadency.

The Christian Endeavor convention in New York came out with the same idea.

The Hon. Ernest T. Tustin, president of the Northern Baptist convention held recently in Des Moines, Iowa, declared that "in our social life there has been a most deplorable lowering of morals" and that "in our local politics the morale is lower perhaps than ever before."

And now comes a voice declaring that the alarmists are all wrong. "Bunkum!" cries the Rev. W. L. Sledge, pastor of St. Mark's M. E. church.

"The world is not growing worse — it is better than ever before and is becoming better every day," the minister declares.

"The world, or our part of the world, is not in its decadency, nor are there signs of approaching it. 'The Old World isn't all right' — it never has been — but it is improving all of the time."

"You hear about empty churches. Many of them are empty, that's a fact. But these ministers who are preaching a present-day Gospel in a present-day way aren't talking to empty pews. There are more persons attending church than in many years."

"After all, the kind of modern Gospel I mean isn't a new Gospel at all — it's the real, original Gospel — the kind that makes men better, because it makes their hearts better; the kind that reaches down to the industrial life and insists on the principles of Christ being applied to the work-a-day life."

"Immodest dress? To be criticized surely. However, because a girl wears a short plaid skirt is no indication that she has fallen or is going to fall. Girls to-day are just as good as they ever were and much more self-reliant."

"Drinking? Of course there is drinking, but there was more of it before prohibition came. When it was usual for men to be drunk there was less talk about it. The unusual causes gossip."

10 PEOPLE DROWNED

WOMEN FLOCK TO RAILROAD WORK

100,000 Now Employed By The Various Systems.

WASHINGTON. — Women workers now are flocking to the employ of the nation's railroads.

Nearly 100,000 women now are helping to build new lines and maintain and operate existing systems, a forthcoming report of the interstate commerce commission is expected to show.

Women constituted in 1920 nearly five per cent of the nation's 2,000,000 railway employees, according to a census taken by the interstate commerce commission.

The number is increasing daily. The commission now is preparing a new census of female railway workers for 1921.

The 1920 census shows that women are going in for all kinds of railroad work, heavy as well as light. They are cleaning engines and headlight watches, night as well as day at dangerous grade crossings, operating telegraph keys, carrying messages of train dispatchers and even doing carpenter work and other heavy work in the railroad shops.

Many of them are empty, that's a fact. But these ministers who are preaching a present-day Gospel in a present-day way aren't talking to empty pews. There are more persons attending church than in many years."

After all, the kind of modern Gospel I mean isn't a new Gospel at all — it's the real, original Gospel — the kind that makes men better, because it makes their hearts better; the kind that reaches down to the industrial life and insists on the principles of Christ being applied to the work-a-day life."

Immodest dress? To be criticized surely. However, because a girl wears a short plaid skirt is no indication that she has fallen or is going to fall. Girls to-day are just as good as they ever were and much more self-reliant."

Drinking? Of course there is drinking, but there was more of it before prohibition came. When it was usual for men to be drunk there was less talk about it. The unusual causes gossip."

GIVES UP HER HUSBAND TO OTHER WOMAN FOR SAKE OF HER CHILDREN

CHICAGO. — Mother love won out over the love of a wife for her husband in one of the strangest "eternal triangles" ever revealed in the Chicago courts.

Mrs. Lynn N. Hitchcock "gave" her husband away to the "other woman" that her children might not suffer from a faithless father. She was granted a divorce here with custody of her two children—John, eight, and Evelyn, seven—and $100 alimony a month. Hitchcock will marry the "other woman."

Mrs. Hitchcock blamed her marital troubles on the fact that her husband was a "traveling salesman."

"I gave up my husband for my children," she explained. "The mother love was greater than my love for my husband. The other woman may have him now."

"If I had insisted on living with him he might have starved me and my children. I wouldn't want them to live under the stain of a faithless father."

She was always loving and dutiful until he went on the road as a traveling salesman. Then his whole attitude changed. He met this other woman—Myrtle, he called her—on one of his trips. She was his affinity, I suppose.

"It was hard at first to decide. It seemed impossible to give him up. I know a lot of women who would have wanted to punish him for wanting my love. But I couldn't do that for the love of my children was greater than that. There is no love greater than mother love."

The Christian Endeavor convention in New York came out with the same idea.

The Hon. Ernest T. Tustin, president of the Northern Baptist convention held recently in Des Moines, Iowa, declared that "in our social life there has been a most deplorable lowering of morals" and that "in our local politics the morale is lower perhaps than ever before."

And now comes a voice declaring that the alarmists are all wrong. "Bunkum!" cries the Rev. W. L. Sledge, pastor of St. Mark's M. E. church.

"The world is not growing worse — it is better than ever before and is becoming better every day," the minister declares.

"The world, or our part of the world, is not in its decadency, nor are there signs of approaching it. 'The Old World isn't all right' — it never has been — but it is improving all of the time."

"You hear about empty churches. Many of them are empty, that's a fact. But these ministers who are preaching a present-day Gospel in a present-day way aren't talking to empty pews. There are more persons attending church than in many years."

"After all, the kind of modern Gospel I mean isn't a new Gospel at all — it's the real, original Gospel — the kind that makes men better, because it makes their hearts better; the kind that reaches down to the industrial life and insists on the principles of Christ being applied to the work-a-day life."

WALL-STREET LOOKING OVER THE HILL

Financial District Believes War Adjustment at Last Behind.

RELIEF SEEN AT WASHINGTON

Prospect of Economic Reconstruction Aid Brightens.

NEW YORK—Wall-street this week began looking over the brow of the hill. News developments of the last six days brought to the financial district a real basis for the belief that the war adjustment is at last behind.

Industry in general has reached what may be termed a period of stagnation. For months, ever since the armistice, the financial observers have been awaiting aid from Washington in the solution of the post-war economic problems. Make-shift policies, promises and plans were spread before them until they hardly knew what to expect.

But this week they saw a tendency on the part of the administration to actually put into effect legislation to aid in economic reconstruction.

President Harding, in his second message to the people on financial matters in recent days, asked that the war finance corporation be authorized to extend its facilities in aid of the railroads, agriculture and livestock production. Legislative measures were promptly introduced. At the same time tariff and tax revision matters were working toward a head.

Further casting in the credit situation was a reflection of the reaction rather than of concession in favor of banking accommodations. Call rates were as low as 3-1/2 percent.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarterly period showed a net of $21,802,000. Railroads, which showed an encouraging earnings report, will cause any governmental aid in the purchase of equipment and supplies, if it is firmly believed in well informed circles.

The week's statement of the Federal Reserve system as a whole showed total gold reserves of $2,581,331,000 against $1,977,704,000 at this time last year.

The market Saturday was dull. Steels, equipments and rails were firm. Foreign exchanges were slightly better. The session created little interest.

NEW YORK—Trading in Saturday's stock market continued of a dull character. Price changes were narrow but strong underlying under tone was noticeable in the major issues, especially the rails which were again the leaders of the market. There were irregular tendencies in most groups. Some short covering before the close caused slight advances in United Fruit, Bethlehem Steel B. and Kelly-Springfield. Sugars, tobacco and textiles remained firm on a small turnover. Selling shortly after the opening carried Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred to a new low level for the year. The market continued irregular up to the close, sales being approximately 150,000 shares.

Prices opened irregularly but in most cases slight gains were made by the leading issues. In spite of the strength in the railroad group, certain specialties, such as Pierce, Arrow, United Drug, International Mercantile Marine preferred displayed a declining tendency. Mexican Petroleum sagged off also from Friday's closing and some profit-taking was noticeable in Northern Pacific. The shipping stock continued under pressure.

PRODUCE REVIEW

(By SWIFT & CO.)

Butter production is showing a slight decrease. A lighter accumulation in storage and constantly increasing demand for current use have resulted in advanced prices in producing centers.

Liberal receipts of poultry have arrived during the week and this is reflected in lower prices on Eastern markets.

There has been a fair clearance of recent accumulations of fresh eggs. There is a better inquiry for little higher, although the quality is not generally satisfactory. Greater care of the eggs on the farm and more frequent marketing will probably result in producers realizing better values.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY ON UPTURN

Bearish Supply Reports Somewhat Overcome in Late Rally

CHICAGO—Prospects of large receipts Monday had a bearish effect on the wheat market Saturday. Slowness of export call tended further to weaken values and so too did favorable crop advice from Canada. On the declines, however, demand broadened out from traders who talked of higher prices after the present heavy movement of wheat lets up. Open quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1-1/2 lower, with Sept. 1-1/2 to 1-1/4 lower, and Dec. 1-1/2 to 1-1/4 lower, followed by a moderate decline all around and then something of a rally.

Predictions of dry weather gave firmness to corn. After opening 3-8 off to 3-8 to 1-2 higher, with Sept. at 60-1/4 to 60-1/2, the market scored slight general gains.

Flour stocks on hands tended to ease the oats market despite continued reports of poor yields from the new crop. Prices opened unchanged to 7-5c lower Sept. 38-1/2 and remained easy.

Provisions were easy with hogs. The wheat market closed nervous 3-4c net lower to 1-2c advance, with September $1.23 1/4 to 1-23 1/2 and December $1.26 1/4 to 1-26 1/2. The corn close was unsettled 1-1/2c net lower to 3-8 to 1-2c advance, with September 60-3/4 to 60-1/2 and December 60-3/4 to 60-1/2.

N. Y. SUN REVIEW

NEW YORK—The New York Sun's financial review said today: The stock market in today's short session was both narrow and dull. It was possible to discover a trend, it might be said that some heaviness would be in evidence, although the steel and equipment shares were firm and the railroad shares also but there was next to nothing done in the latter division.

The chemical stocks were attacked by the bear traders in the second hour and there was a bad break in Virginia-Carolina chemical issues, the common giving way more than three points and the preferred some ten points. There was only a moderate recovery. Both American Agricultural chemical and allied chemical felt the effect of the raid in lesser degree. United Fruit was one of the few outstanding strong stocks. Elsewhere there was little further change to the evening. A firm tone ruled in both status and cotton.

MUSICAL TREAT FOR ROTARIANS, MONDAY

Delegates from Lima Rotary club who attended the International Rotary convention at Edinburgh, Scotland, will report to the parent body at the luncheon Monday noon at the Norval Hotel. President George Bayly was one of the Lima party.

A special musical event has been arranged for the Monday meeting. Selections will be afforded by Miss Berda Ewing, Lima, soprano; Miss Betta Elliott, Springfield, violin and Mrs. Charles Preston, Lima, piano. Misses Ewing and Elliott have been engaged by the Boston Lyceum Bureau for concert work the coming fall and winter season.

At the August 8 meeting of Rotary, the speaker will be the Hon. A. P. Sandies of Ottawa, well known presence of Mr. Sandies on that date. Rotary will entertain a number of Lima newspapermen.

MARSHALL FIELD REVIEW.

Marshall Field & Company, in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade say:

Wholesale distribution of dry goods show a very substantial increase over last week. A large percentage of road salesmen were on vacation, but a satisfactory volume of orders was received from those still in their territory.

Collections continue satisfactory. There were approximately the same number of customers in the market as a week ago. It is expected that a very large number of merchants from all over the country will be in Chicago during the next two weeks, combining their trip to market with a visit to the President of Progress, which will be held on the Municipal Pier July 30 to August 14.

CONFLICT OF LAW IS DISCLOSED

State Ripper Cause of Puzzle to Industrial Board

FORDNEY BILL IS ATTACKED

Faulkner's Man Here To Get Line On Politics

(By J. W. FISHER)

Announcement that the Ohio Industrial Commission has petitioned Attorney General John G. Price for an opinion of a formal character, concerning the effect of the new Ohio ripper law on that body's powers, certainly must have resulted in a snicker of amusement from the executive office, provided Governor Davis has not yet started on his 15th vacation for the present season.

The revelation that there is a possible conflict between the reorganization ripper law and the law soon effective establishing occupational disease compensation for injured workmen, precipitated the action of the industrial commission.

Under the ripper law the employees of the commission are transferred to the Director of Industrial Relations, but under the occupational disease act the commission is directed to administer the fund in accordance with the industrial commission law.

Quite naturally the commission wants to know who is to be in control. The indication that the General Assembly had returned power to the commission after stripping it, amused the commissioners, with the exception of Miss Rose Moriarity, the militant woman member, who decided against herself and said the employees for the new bureau would be under the control of the Industrial Relations director.

At one in contact with the facts in the case could believe for a minute that the commission would be doing anything other than what was being done when the law was passed. Anything to take authority away from the board, at a constantly would be just as soothing to Rosie as to Harry.

Judge J. D. Clark took issue with statements by the woman member and expressed the opinion there is no doubt as to the intent of the law. Nevertheless, the matter has been referred to the state legal department for a formal ruling. Rose was particularly active in behalf of the Davis campaign last fall and as a reward received an appointment to the industrial commission board. And it wouldn't look well for her to break with the big chief now.

This incident probably affords Governor Davis the opportunity he has been watching and waiting for. If Commissioners Duffy and Clark refuse to accede to the plan of the administration, it is expected that they will be ousted by order of the Governor. The chief executive has been sticking around with a crow bar in his hand, seeking a favorable opportunity to get the pry under the edge of the commission holdings, to the detriment of Clark and Duffy.

Davis' reorganization law has been rightly named. It is, indeed, a ripper. There is always a way of killing a law without repealing it. It can be amended to death or its enemies can be placed in control of its operation. Either plan is equally effective; but the "rip" doesn't get next to the assassination so quickly.

Ho, hum!

When a Democrat or a Democratic newspaper attacks a Republican or a Republican measure, the charge goes up at once that it is a partisan yowl. But when Republicans and Republican newspapers start a clamor along the same lines, it is pretty difficult for partisans of that particular family to look unconcerned about it.

The New York American is one of the foremost President Harding worshipping newspapers in the United States. What it has to say about the Fordney high tariff bill isn't soothing to the nerves of the adherents of the party now in control.

Speaking of the Fordney bill, the New York paper says: "A worse economic measure than this Fordney bill it would be hard to imagine. Partly the product of profound ignorance of conditions and of economic causation, and partly the result of a desire to pay political debts to powerful interests, the bill, if passed, will tend to raise prices and put an additional handicap upon our exporting trade and our merchant marine.

"This Fordney tariff is not a protective tariff. It is an almost prohibitory tariff upon many things. It is not constructive, but destructive. It will not diminish taxes, but business. It will make it harder for our debtors to pay us and make us poorer and more in need of collecting our debts.

The proposed Fordney tariff is a vicious measure, because it will tend to restrict trade, to increase prices, to decrease the power to pay taxes and will breed and foster monopolies.

"It is such an extreme measure that it is hard to see how any sensible man in the Congress can vote for it, unless he is under the influence of the interests which alone will profit from the general harm."

It doesn't sound just right to the ear of a party man, the Democrat or Republican, when an office holder who has profited for years at the expense of the public, sponsored by a certain party and elevated to office on its ticket, announces that he intends to "give up politics" when he retires from office.

It's like giving the workers of his party a Jack Dempsey smash between the eyes and impels them to, temporarily at least, lose faith in the existence of such a word as gratitude. It would seem, really, that if anyone who has "got his" felt that way about it when the "juicy period" had expired, he ought to have sufficient consideration for others to at least keep still about it and not flaunt the fact before the eyes of those who helped him to a place where desirable prerequisites accrued.

The very success—or failure—of political organizations is dependent upon the constancy of their adherents. Some of the most stalwart party men of today, both Democratic and Republican, are those who, in years gone by, were favored by their fellow workers, raised to positions of honor and trust and emolument. They were not fair weather party men. They have remained true to the tenets of their political faith long after being chased away from the public trough.

They believe in helping others as they were helped. To them the word gratitude means something.

Those who decide, after "getting theirs," to get out of politics, reminds one of the old-time road law that made a township a unit, but required a favorable vote of the electors of the entire county to make assured a bond issue. The people of one township begged those of other units to help them in getting a bond issue for roads in their territory, agreeing to "help the other fellow" the next time. But after the roads of their township were improved, they lost interest.

It would be all wrong for anyone to attempt to rob President Harding of credit he deserves for giving impetus to a movement that has for its intention disarmament and consequently the dealing of a severe blow at warfare among nations. However, since such a program is getting well under way, it is but proper to give credit where credit is due.

If the principal allied nations are seriously included in the disarmament program, there is cause for congratulation, particularly so if China is among the number. This would provide a peaceable solution for the Far Eastern question.

The movement inaugurated by President Harding followed the passage of the Borah resolution, under pressure of public opinion, but real credit for initiating movement for reduction of world armament, which antedated the Versailles peace conference, rightfully belongs to the Democrats.

In 1916 the first disarmament resolution was presented in the House, by Representative Hensley (Democrat) of Missouri, appended to the naval appropriation bill, in part as follows:

"Upon the conclusion of the war in Europe, or as soon thereafter as may be done, the President of the United States is authorized to invite all the great governments of the world to send representatives to a conference, which shall be charged with the duty of suggesting an organization, court of arbitration or other body, to which disputed questions between nations shall be referred for adjudication and peaceful settlement and to consider the question of disarmament and submit their recommendations to their respective governments for approval."

A practical plan for reduction of armaments was also incorporated in the covenant of the League of Nations, rejected by a Republican Senate.

It would be something less than wise if endorsement was not given to the recommendation of Postmaster Will Hays for increasing the popularity of postal savings as an avenue of thrift and as a means of giving the nation the stimulation of small sums of money out of circulation.

The present postal savings rate is not high enough. Many persons continue to be afraid to deposit money in banks and thus immense sums are held out of circulation.

The proposal is to increase the interest paid on postal savings and otherwise improve the governmental service. It is hoped that the recommendation of the Postmaster General will get somewhere, but with the record of the present Congress, it is not surprising that many are skeptical.

Distinguished service medals ought to be given to those who serve in the economic field as well as those on the fields of war. If such a plan was carried out, it would be a great benefit to the nation. Some of them would be men in public life, in "politics," if you please.

Here is the case of Thomas J. Duffy, chairman of the Ohio industrial commission. For years Tom Duffy has been one of the mainstays of the fight against liability insurance companies. Not long ago they concluded that he could not be beaten, so seven voices were sent to sing him a song of a huge annual salary of $25,000 if he would join an insurance company, engaged in trying to break down the Ohio law.

Duffy didn't accept. Knowing Tom Duffy personally, we know how he feels about it. He doesn't want money in his pockets that would not permit him to look his old associates in the eye. Of course he refused it!

It was a lot of money offered him but Duffy had the manhood to reject it.

Report has it that Judge Hugh L. Nichols, formerly supreme court justice, is becoming interested in the proposal of Democrats of the state to present him as a candidate for Governor in 1922.

In fact, he is not at all unfavorable to the proposal, provided the outlook still looks good one year from now and the health of himself and family warrants his taking up the work.

Judge Nichols still has considerable unfinished business as a result of his official and private work in Columbus, which takes usually, he side-steps all suggestions of again being a candidate for any office, but the demand that he stand for Governor has become so general he is finally giving ear.

There is no question but that Judge

Nichols would be a formidable contender for the office of chief executive of the state of Ohio.

Those who enroll in the general registration in October, for eligibility to vote in November, will be required only to state that they are 21 years of age, or over, as the case may be. No information will be required as to having more details of age, as the Shaw act will then be in effect, providing that applicants for registration need only declare that they are over 21.

Under the Ohio law electors must be 21 or over, both men and women. In previous registrations the law required that exact ages be given. This exactness was resented by numerous women voters, it is recalled and there was considerable ado about it.

Registration for the primary election came before the date of the Shaw law becoming effective.

Too bad Hays' Krick isn't navigable, else a lot of Lima folks might have their own private house boats, with Uncle Sam as first aid in providing them at a cost far and away below the amount originally paid for their construction.

However, we might have one of 'em in our back yard, for ornamental purposes. The United States shipping board is perfectly willing that the area behind the kitchen door shall be stocked up with seagoing ships of all varieties.

Both of Ohio's United States Senators have been notified that the 133 wooden ships that the shipping board is ready to discard can now be bid for, either as navigation backs or as timber salvage.

Senator Atlee Pomerene has sent out duplicate specifications of the sale to the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

State Highway Commissioner Leon Herrick (or whatever his latest title may be under the provisions of the ripper law) is loudly shouting that the people of Ohio should pay no attention to critics of the highway department, Democratic or Republican, and there are a lot of both.

Herrick is particularly vituperative in denunciation of Chas. Brand, a Republican Senator, whose charges are sweeping in their character and which make the Herrick department look like a dirty deuce.

Using the people to wait and give the Herrick policies an opportunity to prove themselves, the highway head calls Brand and others about all the mean things he can think of. The fight between Herrick and men of his own party is interesting, at least and gives rise to the suspicion that where there is a lot of smoke there must be at least a little fire.

Dave Bowman, former Lima newspaperman, now with Jim Faulkner's Cincinnati Enquirer organization, in Columbus, was a caller in Lima during the past week, making a hurry-up run over the Fourth Congressional district, in search of material for Jim's weekly resume of affairs political.

Bowman found political activities a victim of the heated term, despite the fact that before his coming it had been represented to him that the old 4th was fairly seething. Endeavoring to get a line on just what the folks in Lima are apt to do in the matter of the selection of candidates for city commissioner, the Columbus visitor found a feeling of apathy prevailing.

Efforts made to stir up something more than ordinary interest in the August 9 primary have proven unavailing, as far as is indicated on the surface.

It used to be that it would be termed larceny if freight rates exceeded the value of an article shipped. But it's the other way around now, even with hay.

A Bellefontaine dispatch says that E. M. Ruter of that place shipped four carloads of hay from Grants, Hardin Co., to Jacksonville, Florida. He paid the farmers $660 for the hay and the freight was $670.

This causes wonderment as to whether the farmers and shippers ever read the Republican national platform and the promises made to the farmer. One wonders, too, if they ever read that part of the platform devoted to the railroads, in which it is said: "We endorse the Transportation Act of 1920 enacted by the Republican Congress as a most constructive legislative achievement."

MEN OF AFFAIRS OPTIMISTIC

Crest of Dull Period Has Been Attained, Is Belief.

IMPROVEMENT IS NOW SEEN

Manufacturers, Bankers, Realtors Interviewed.

While many of Lima's leading industries are just now enjoying a vacation similar to the ones being taken in other industrial centers of the country, yet some very optimistic statements are being made by men of affairs regarding the future.

"The United States is a country of long hours," said A. W. Wheatley, president of the investment house which bears his name. "Our freight rates are too high and must come down. The action of Henry Ford for the U. S. & I. will be followed by other lines in my opinion as soon as labor reductions begin to show. The railroad on receipt of the monies due them from the government will start buying and this in turn will start a stream of freight. Lima still looks mighty good to me."

Ed. Hiner, vice president of the First National Bank, and one of the keenest financiers in the city, has been a persistent "bear" even in advance of the actual June slump. Hiner early in April saw the oncoming crash in stock values and merchandise. Now he sees the silver lining to the cloud. "Money has been tight and is tight," said Hiner to The News, "but the worst is over. The action of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank in cutting its rate to 5-12 percent Friday shows the trend in our own section. Only the Minneapolis bank of the entire system is now on a six percent basis, for thus cheaper money in New York and at Federal bank centers will be reflected here and cheaper interest rates will bring a renewal in all kinds of business. Merchants are placing orders for fall delivery now with more confidence and this starts factories. We are beginning to see daylight for the first time since the armistice was signed."

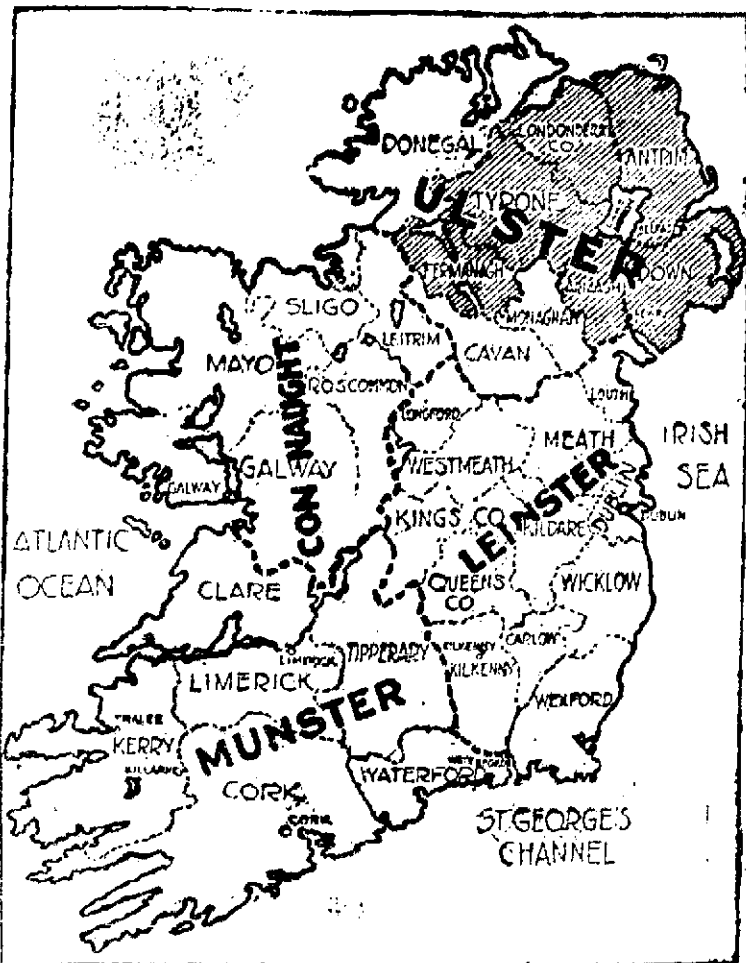

"The motor industry is picking up on a new system of schedules for a decreased output," said a representative of the Liberty Motor Car company to The News yesterday. "The great trouble just now is adjustment to new conditions of lower costs, which means lower labor; but we must be careful not to reduce labor except as living costs justify. At this time wages can come down 50 percent from 1916 scales, and the laboring man can buy just as much with his money. We are anticipating a slow and dull winter, but the industry as a whole is stronger than three months ago."

Dunn's, Broadstreet's, and the Guaranty Bank of New York's reviews for the week were distinctly optimistic. The effect of lower money rates is distinctly favorable, claim all of them.

"Lima real estate will never be lower than it is today," said Cashier T. G. Harris of the American Bank. "There is little real estate moving and this is a sign that there is no disposition on the part of owners to sell. It does not mean that any piece of business property offered at a bargain would not be snapped up. Just now we are short of loanable funds, but this condition is temporary and not confined to Lima. The same is true all over the state and country, especially in industrial and farming centers. I look for plentiful supplies of money later in the fall."

"With many of our factories shut down or on greatly reduced forces, there is still a dearth of rentals. Some raising is noted in the cheaper homes without modern improvements, but Lima rents are still firm," said John M. Booser, the real estate broker.

SMALL IN SIZE, BIG ECONOMICALLY, ULSTER IS BLOCKING IRISH UNITY

Map of Ireland showing the four provinces, of which the six northeastern counties form the Ulster partition.

Can Ulster go it alone? Can the six northeastern counties hold out against Irish political unity and continue economically prosperous?

"Yes," say the partisans of a divided Ireland, and "time will show and is showing." Is the equally vigorous reply of those who are working for a united Ireland politically and economically. The fact is that Ireland has been boycotting the north to bring it to reason, and reports state that Ulster is feeling a battered pocketbook because of the boycott.

The problem of Ulster is that of any industrial community robbed for a time of her markets. But an attempt to judge accurately the conditions of the country at the present time is fraught with all the dangers of any controversy as lively as this. Representatives of Belfast and other Ulster firms scout the assertion that the boycott instituted by the south is having the slightest effect upon her economic situation.

Since Fen groups on the other hand are ready enough to declare that Ulster feels their economic pinch, she cannot sell her linen or her tobacco, they state. Her banks have seen their funds and reserve dwindle as the thrifty agricultural classes of the south have withdrawn them and placed them on deposit in other institutions. As a matter of fact, according to what few statistics are available, and from opinions of unbiased minds, it would seem that the real situation is a combination of both views.

Geographically, Ulster is apparently insignificant. Situated at the northeastern end of Ireland, and consisting of but six small counties, her area is but a fraction of the 32,586 square miles which make up the whole of the country. Ireland's population is about 4,400,000, and it is significant to state that of this number little more than 1,000,000 are in the six counties of Ulster as set out under the Ulster parliament.

With the city of Belfast as its chief asset, Ulster is the manufacturing district of Ireland. With ships, linen, tobacco, rope, and mineral waters as her principal products, she must depend to a certain extent upon the world for her markets. The south, on the other hand, is the agricultural district, cattle raising and farming are the chief activities of the people. Many of the necessities of life are bought from jobbers and distributors who make Belfast their center.

Hamilton farm Thursday. The farm is located four miles out on the Elida road. The crowd will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 3 p. m. by automobile. Provision will be made for those that cannot leave the city so early in the afternoon.

A steak and corn roast is promised the picknickers as well as baseball, volleyball and horse shoe contests.

The regular monthly board meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

FEAR OF AUTO HOLDUPS DRIVES YOUNG COUPLES TO FRONT PORCH SWINGS

Front porches and the squeaky porch swing have suddenly jumped into popular favor as the trysting place for lovers.

Since the word has gone abroad that daring hold-up men are lurking along the principal highways, young women of Lima are loath to take automobiles rides with their best beau.

Only the well-lighted streets of the city are sought by young women when their "sweeties" take them for a motor trip.

One Lima dealer says there has been a big demand for porch swings from all classes of people and that inquiries came mostly from young women.

This same dealer says that consumption of gasoline is bound to decrease when his business in porch swings increases. "The girls don't want to go out motoring in their best duds, with the knowledge their jewelry and valuables may be taken, so they have taken to entertaining their best young man on the front porch these warm nights," the dealer said.

PIONEER MEETING AUGUST 11

Record Breaking Attendance Expected by Society Officers.

That the annual reunion of the Allen-co Pioneer society, to be held in the Crites grove, east of Elida, August 11, will be one of the largest and most successful of similar events ever held in this county, is the belief of Secretary A. J. Sherrick, 655 S. Elizabeth-st., this city.

"The officers of the society feel certain," Sherrick said, "that efforts that have been made to provide entertainment of an extraordinary character this year will be appreciated by the pioneers of Allen-co and their friends and thus assure a big attendance."

N. W. Cunningham, prominent citizen and banker of Bluffton, president of the society, will preside. The principal address of the day will be delivered by Dr. David H. Bailey of Kenton, on "Keeping America American."

J. L. B. Leatherman, the "Grand Old Man" of Harrod, now in his 88th year, will deliver the address of welcome and the response will be voiced by Rev. A. F. Gamble of Van Wert-co.

Secretary Sherrick gave assurance Saturday that those who attended the meetings of the pioneer society in the past and were required to sit in the sun about the speakers' stand, will not be subjected to that annoyance

REALTORS PLAN OUTING AT LAKE RIDGE RESORT

Whether the Lima Real Estate board will hold its annual outing at Lake Ridge, near Orchard Island, this year will be determined at a meeting to be held Thursday night.

Announcement by John J. Wyre, secretary, is that the board will retrench and that members will be expected to pay their proportionate share of the outing. In former years the expense of the jaunt has been paid out of the treasury.

Notices will be sent out to members Monday and it is believed that a sufficient number will respond to insure the event being held.

L. A. to B. O. Veteran Association will meet in Oddfellow's hall, corner Main and Wayne-sts., Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

Diamond Substitutes

By J. W. PUETZ

"I shall speak a little more of diamonds, that they who know them may not be deceived by chapmen, who go through the country selling them, for whoever will buy the diamond, it is needful that he know them."—Sir John Maundeville.

It is evident from the above that the limitation and substitution of the diamond is by no means a modern practise. However, it is perfectly legitimate business, to sell diamond substitutes, providing they are sold as substitutes and not for real gems.

The substitutes most common are the white sapphire, the zircon, the white topaz and quartz. Artifice is frequently called upon to lighten or change the color and sometimes they are subjected to chemical treatment. Heat is sometimes employed to whiten and render more brilliant these substitutes.

Besides these ruses, the interiors of stones may be backed, stained or enameled. These substitutes bring disappointment to the purchaser, as their brilliancy frequently fades entirely, and they require constant cleaning and polishing to maintain the semblance of a sparkle.

Everything in life for which there is a demand will be imitated and substitutes offered in its place. If the substitute is offered as a substitute, the deal is above reproach. But the dealer who sells inferior diamonds, imitations and substitutes for the pure gem is a swindler, and the money he has accumulated by his unjust dealings will avail him little if he gets into the toils of the law.

WALL-ST LOOKING OVER THE HILL
Financial District Believes War Adjustment at Last Behind.
RELIEF SEEN AT WASHINGTON
Prospect of Economic Reconstruction Aid Brightens.

NEW YORK—Wall-st this week began looking over the brow of the hill. News developments of the last few days brought to the financial district a real basis for the belief that the war adjustment is at last behind.

Industry in general has reached what may be termed a period of stagnation. For months, ever since the armistice, the financial observers have been awaiting aid from Washington in the solution of the post-war economic problems. Made-shift policies, promises and plans were spread before them until they hardly knew what to expect.

But this week they saw a tendency on the part of the administration to actually put into effect legislation to aid in economic reconstruction.

President Harding, in his second message to the people on financial matters in recent days, asked that the war finance corporation be authorized to extend its facilities in the construction of railroads, agriculture and livestock production. Legislative measures were promptly introduced. At the same time tariff and tax revision matters were working toward a head.

Further easing in the credit situation was a reflection of the reaction rather than of concession in favor of banking accommodations. Call rates were as low as 3-5 percent.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarterly period showed a net of $21,822,000. Railroads, which showed an encouraging earnings report, will cause any governmental aid in the purchase of floating debts and in the purchase of equipment and supplies. It was firmly believed in well informed circles.

The week's statement of the Federal Reserve system as a whole showed total gold reserves of $2,581,251,000 against $1,977,704,000 this time last year.

The market Saturday was dull. Stocks, equipments and rails were firm. Foreign exchanges were slightly better. The session created little interest.

MRS. A. J. SCHMIDT IS SUICIDE

Former Delphos Woman Drowns Self in Toledo

DEATH FROM PARALYSIS

Dr. D. J. Clark Honored by Ohio Osteopaths.

DELPHOS. — (Special.) — The body of Mrs. A. J. Schmidt, wife of A. J. Schmidt, formerly in the dry goods business in this city, but now of Toledo, was found near her home in that city in a cistern where she had drowned herself in three feet of water, after years of illness. Mrs. Schmidt was past 51 years of age at the time.

Mrs. Schmidt was formerly Alice Dumoulin, and was married to A. J. Schmidt in this city in 1903. Three children survive; Alice, 13; Joseph, 12 and Elsie, 9. Her parents passed away within the last two years. She is survived also by her husband, two brothers and two sisters.

James Morehead, of 721 W. Skinner st here died Thursday after suffering a third paralytic stroke, which rendered him helpless. The deceased was born in Spencerville and after coming to this city was married three times, lastly to Mrs. James Sutherland, of Lima, who survives. A brother resides in Napoleon.

Dr. D. J. Clark of this city, at the annual convention of the national organization of the Atlas club, osteopathic fraternity, held at Cleveland Thursday, was elected grand receptaculum.

Henry A. Lange, Ben L. Jauman and J. A. Gerdemann attended a convention of the Northwestern Ohio Duroc Association at Ottawa Thursday. They were present in the interests of the Delphos Tri-County Fair association.

Ottawa, which received light and power from the plant of the Northwestern Ohio Light company of this city recently the fact that the company has reduced the rate to Van Wert and surrounding territory from 13 to 12 cents per kilowatt hour, while that village pays 15 cents per kilowatt for service.

Mike Friedline, Clover Leaf engineer, is recovering from a peculiar bruise on his arm sustained several months ago. The bruise failed to heal properly, and as it was feared the bone was decaying, an operation was resorted to.

Cad Williams of this city was taken by the authorities Friday on a charge of violating the city traffic ordinance and in the absence of Mayor Ben L. Jauman was assessed a fine of $12.50 by President of the Council Albert Schmuckle.

SHORT SHAVINGS

This husband was not exactly mean, but he was careful, and each week he examined his wife's cash account, with growls and grumbles.

and he delivered himself of the following:

"Look here, Sarah: mustard plasters, 50 cents; two teeth extracted, $3. There's $3.50 spent in one week for your private pleasure."

At a production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," on the screen in a Broadway house, a woman was heard to ask her companion: "Do you know anything else this Ibanez has written?"

"Yes," was the answer, "another horse story, called 'Mare Nostrum.'"

Speaking of mixed metaphors—an ex-doughboy was relating his experiences somewhere over there.

"I'll say it was some battle. I was up in the air for the time being with my back against the wall, but I resolved to die in the ditch rather than yield an inch, so I continued to advance regardless of the Jerries who were pressing me from the rear."

NEW PARTNERSHIP

BOND REDUCTION IS REFUSED

Court Hold Joe Willis' Bail at $50,000.

Joe Willis, alleged member of the McGinn-Townsend handit gang, arrested here on May 21, following a running gun battle with police, must remain in the county jail.

That is, unless he can place security with the county for $50,000, amount fixed by the court at the time of his arrest, as the price of his freedom awaiting execution of sentence.

Mrs. Martha Reardon, Willis' wife, has secured former Judge William Klinger as attorney for her husband. Judge Klinger appeared in court Saturday in an effort to secure reduction of the bond of Willis from $50,000 to $5,000.

Judge F. C. Becker promptly overruled a motion for the reduction and notified counsel for Willis that unless he put up $50,000 in perfectly good money or Allen-co real estate, Willis must remain in jail.

Willis and George Donovan, arrested at the same time, were convicted in June of the robbery of the Pett, brother's home near Bluffton of $2,000 in liberty bonds and more than $100 in money. Both are under sentence to the penitentiary, pending appeal of their case.

Willis' wife made a trip to Chicago last week in a special effort to secure the money for bond for release of her husband, but did not succeed.

P. E. DUNDORE JOINS FURNITURE INTERESTS

P. E. Dundore, general manager of the Hoover-Bond company, has severed his connection with that firm, effective August 1st. Dundore has successfully built the business of the local store and its branches during his connection with the syndicate. He leaves to act as factory representative of three widely known and nationally advertised lines of furniture. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Dundore will continue to make their home in Lima.

PENN. TOWN BELIEVES IT HAS FOUND SILVER MINE OF THE INDIANS

KINZUA, Pa.—Kinzua is having a new boom. In the days when lumbering was at its height around her the lumbermen made things lively. Volstead and Wayne Wheeler were unheard of then.

Now this little town, some miles south of the New York State line from Salamanca, is awakening. Everybody is getting excited over silver. Even the conservative are taking notice. They expect soon to see mules and prospectors streaking through the nearly forest fastness searching for traces of silver and the mother lode.

This week several men visited Warren, Pa., and asked a local hardware store to construct them a furnace. They had samples of ore which they declared was secured from the hills near Kinzua. They had the ore assayed and they report it was pronounced sufficiently high grade to be produced in paying quantities.

In the early days Warren County had silver mines that supplied the Indians with the silver beads they wore. There is hardly a section of the county that does not have legends of ancient mines from which the Indians obtained their silver. The hidden lodes have never been found.

An old legend has it that the Indians used to make their gods of real silver. The mine was as fabulously rich as that of the Incas and Montezuma. One tribe had the secret of this great treasure house but guarded it very closely. Then one day, as the tale goes, the earth slid and blotted out both mine and operators.

At any rate folks around Kinzua are again dreaming about fabulous riches.

EXCURSION RATES ARE OFFERED BY RAILROADS

Two railroads passing thru this city have announced special excursion rates between Lima and Chicago for the 5th, 9th and 12th of August. The Pennsylvania and the Erie have arranged for special rates in view of the fact that the Pageant of Progress will be held in Chicago at that time. A five-day privilege is also allowed with the special rate. It is placed at $6.75 for the round trip.

LIMA DECORATORS WIN AWARDS

Master Painters Make Display at Cedar Point Meet.

Lima master painters and decorators captured three awards for display on inside wood finishing at the annual convention of the Master Painters and Decorators' association of Ohio held at Cedar Point. Announcement of the awards was made Saturday by Karl Holm, 502 S. Baxter-st, secretary of the local organization.

James Phinnmore, Toronto, Canada, president of the international association; William E. Wall, Somerville, Mass., and Frank Hartman, Louisville, Ky., were judges of the work displayed. Andrew Quinn, president of the Lima association, was a member of the committee on displays.

Holm & Swinehart, Andrew Quinn and Miller & Davidson are the Lima firms successful in winning awards over competitors from all of the larger cities of Ohio.

Ohio now has the largest membership of any state association in the country. The attendance at Cedar Point was larger this year than at any time in the history of the state organization. The desire of painters and decorators to assist in bringing conditions in the building industry back to normal contributed to the unusual attendance.

The state association voted to hold its 1922 convention at Cedar Point.

PATTERSON-LENZ

Officially Approved by Director of Highways and Public Works

Under the New Ohio Headlight Law

Which requires every motor vehicle to use headlight lenses approved by the director. Glaring, as well as insufficient, lights always have been dangerous to life and property. Now the new law makes them illegal. It fixes penalties for first offense at $25.

PATTERSON-LENZ

ARE LAWFUL IN OHIO AND EVERYWHERE

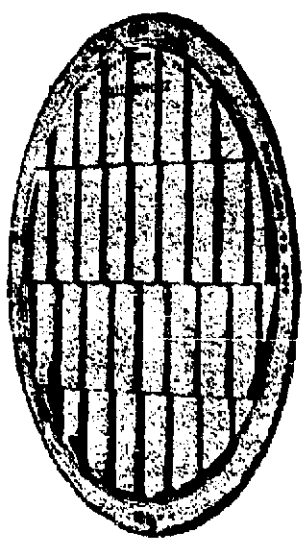

Why not use the lenses that are not only passed as legal in Ohio, but are amply proven as far superior all over the country?

The leading automobile engineers and manufacturers have made exhaustive tests of all kinds of lenses. They have experimented under all conditions and for all requirements, more than you can.

It is significant that one lens has won such a preponderance of favor with them as to leave no doubt in your mind. Fifty-six of the leading companies have selected the Patterson-Lenz as standard equipment.

Benefit by their experience, comply with the law, avoid risk, and get the best light by

Avoid illegal and inferior lenses — make sure the name Patterson is on the lens

Angle view of Patterson-Lenz (legal everywhere) showing prismatic construction equipping your car at once with Patterson-Lenz.

These lenses make use of all the light—none of it is wasted. They throw a flood of light 500 feet ahead of your car, and distribute this light evenly clear across the entire road. One place is as light as another. There are no bright spots or dark spots. And this flood of light is the correct height—42 inches above the road, out of the eyes of pedestrians, as well as approaching cars.

The Lost Needle

THERE'S an old English play known as "Gammer Gorton's Needle". Its plot is woven around the loss of the family needle—no trifling misfortune in the days of old.

Today, in this era of ours, life is so rich in comforts that we seldom wonder how folks got along in the ancient world. And we sometimes forget what an important role advertising has played in making life pleasant and altogether livable.

Advertising has one of the leading parts in the eternal drama of dollars. To it is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which has come about during the last half century.

It has smoothed the mechanics of existence—made life easier and more pleasant by bringing countless necessities—once considered luxuries—within our easy reach and into continuous use.

Think of this when you read these columns. You owe much to advertising.

And you miss much when you fail to read it!

PUBLIC PURSUIT OF ROAD COSTS

Endeavor to Break Grip of Ohio Material Men

KNIGHT GOES ON WARPATH

Akron Congressman May Resign—Political Comment

Warner, by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and by press and public coming to its defense is one sole individual, the head of an automobile club. Not a single farm organization, nor an association of business men, nor a civic body, nor any other assemblage speak for him. It is a most unusual situation that not often met with in the state which generally breeds public opinion. The only parallel is the reorganization "ripper" case in which the opponents had the sentiment but the Governor the Supreme Court votes. In the people versus highwaymen, shall the Highwayman have the official votes and the people mere moral indignation?

Just one little phase in the reorganization will be mentioned here. We mean, of course, the censorship as applied by the state departments under the direction of Director of Finance Floyd E. Walto, aided and supplemented by the efforts of one Harbarger, who is slated for the job of publicly agent under the "ripper" bill in charge of the centralized news bureau. It relates to the road bids of last week. It was the official pronouncement that the cost of the roads was $70,000 a mile, but when Senator Charles Brand went over the figures he found the average to be $26,000 a mile. Whence the discrepancy? The official statement was one of that most dangerous of statements—a half-truth. It appears that it embraced all in any sense, some of these were merely for grading and excavation and hence were not complete contracts in any sense, but nothing in the official statement indicated this, at all. So it was that there is growing up a larger and larger volume of complaint. The statements now simply will not be trusted without independent investigation. It is mere precaution, not partisanship, which dictates this course.

There are many links to the highway construction game that are constantly coming to light. For months the tar people have been selling their material to the highway department at 20 per cent higher than the asphalt folks. The discrepancy has been a source of wonder to all and sundry since tar is usually cheaper. But when bids were submitted on the two types almost invariably they were the same. There has been search for an answer. Is one price quoted to the highway department and another to building contractors when there is some competition? No one in official station has made any effort to get at the truth of this matter. It is also related that generally higher prices are quoted to the department when it is engaged in making up estimates than the material will later be offered to the contractors. At all events, the department does not seem to care much about these practices. Only the taxpayers are concerned, anyway.

While talking about retrenchment, let it not be forgotten that the state is getting a wash boiler full of money tied up in new building projects of doubtful value. Let us consider the dormitories built at state educational institutions. There are millions expended for them. Yet why this should be has not been explained, to the satisfaction of those who wish to see budgets reduced. It is noted that in Columbus this week this dormitory proposition is to be made a commercial affair with a half-million dollars invested. If that can be done, the taxpayers' money, it is urged, ought to be saved from this time forward. It may be added, too, that the people are getting ready to call a halt for some time on ornate school buildings. Every one is for them, but they cannot be paid for now. Even the bonds will not sell and the Ohio Industrial Commission is unperturbed to take far more bonds than it can carry and has to trust down many issues, although it increased its holdings by 20 per cent in the past year. There was a time when there was no solution for the student housing problem but now an opportunity is afforded to take the government out of business.

It is becoming the style for inferior courts to deny to the people their right of referendum. Well, why not? The Ohio Supreme Court set the example on an argument that official figures have shown to be as false as a mirage on a desert. The court felt bankruptcy coming on with $4,000,000 surpluses in the general fund and now other courts are hunting up other excuses. Judge Frank B. Gussweiler down in Cincinnati a few days ago said that the initiative and referendum does not apply to a street car ordinance because it was one of a series that originally were enacted before the I and R was adopted in Ohio. In other cities the same line of decisions have been followed. When these cases come up to the Supreme Court there will be lots of turning and twisting, but the general proposition has been fastened on the people that the courts can take away the referendum rights at will—there own sweet will, too.

News from Washington that Charles Landon Knight, the fleeing Akron congressman, is in a state of continuous threat to resign, has created no little surprise in these parts, despite Mr. Knight's penchant for doing the unusual. However, they recognize here that he has a good weather-vane and can detect currents of air before they become gales, which some of the rest cannot do. He did that some seven years ago when he began to "blow out" Hon. Harry M. Daugherty and to seek to drive him out of the chairmanship. Mr. Daugherty raved and he swore and called him Mr. "Evening" and Hon. "Twilight" and other names that struck his fancy, but the Akron warrior kept right on insisting that the motives of the now Honorable Attorney General were not above reproach in the state Republican organization and Mr. Daugherty finally reluctantly picked up his hat and went out as chairman. Then when Mr. Daugherty ran for Senator the truth which Mr. Knight saw from afar off was realized by others. So it is now Mr. Knight is catching the first gusts of public opinion which presage political storms.

His colleagues seem to see some clouds too, for this week they held him in his place largely by main force and urged that he must remain for the good of the party, otherwise a special election might break the solid Republican representation from Ohio and bring a moral defeat to the administration of President Harding. But let Mr. Knight get a little more angry and this will be an inducement rather than a deterrent. As it stands, he is still angry with congress, but who knows but what the same sentiments will shoot out upon the White House incumbent. He was one of the first to break with former President Taft and he can break with the President now as he did then. In passing, Knight certainly tipped into the Fordney tariff bill, saying it is "full of absurdities," and adding that if anybody thinks the unpalatable mess will be swallowed by the home-loving, God-fearing citizens of Ohio at one gulp the way it was swallowed by the House of Representatives, he is sadly mistaken.

Now that the Mrs. Ross "voluntary exposure" of special rates granted three firms under the Ohio Industrial Commission has proved to be a "dud," that is, a shell which did not explode, a still hunt must be begun for something else upon which an attack can be predicated. It will be hard to find. Minor mistakes have been made in the Industrial Commission, of course, and experiments have been tried that will be abandoned just as some have been abandoned, but if any bureau can be found with a better, stonier record than a decade than that possessed by the commission, a long hunt must be made for it. That was what Chairman Thomas J. Duffy told the turbulent woman member when she began her tirade. Others advised Mr. Duffy he was too gentle with her and should have taken for his model the story of William Shakespeare wherein methods are suggested for dealing with wilful persons of the gentler sex. It was predicted that a quarrel would be started in the commission and the predictions were not a day late. The proposition that the Governor would attempt to remove the commissioners on the strength of the special rates provisionally allowed by the industrial department appeared to have been just a year bit strong for even the old face of workmen's compensation found something better as a weapon against a rival system.

There is something peculiarly fitting in the do a run of the Ohio State Horticultural society to meet in sight of one of the orchards planted by Johnny Appleseed, the man who wandered about Ohio preparing for the civilization that was to be. Like many other men of genius, his day and generation probably scoffed at him as a "nut," but the children of those who scoffed at his apples and found them good. They say that seedlings which he planted are still standing. Were his modern descendants as wise. How many trees are they planting? In Ohio, after agitation of 20 years a modest start has been made toward forest conservation. The silver forestry bills soon go into effect but no interest is being taken in making a real application of them and the state administration hardly knows they are in existence. Yet what an opportunity this fall to utilize the work of idle men at low figures in planting trees, wherewith the name of this generation may be blessed. And where is the Johnny Appleseed to teach by example a great lesson?

How extensive is illicit distilling in Ohio today? It is a puzzle. Some weeks ago Judge Don V. Parker, prohibition commissioner under the Miller act, asked whether the number of 50,000 stills in Ohio is excessive. He believed not. Mahoning police say there are 10,000 stills in that county. That's one-fifth of the total number. Naturally, the Ohio Anti-Saloon League tore its hair, if it has any, over the statement and Judge Parker was importuned to take back his statement to the estimate—which he did not do. Thereupon the league repudiated it for him. But that's another story. Now every newspaper in Ohio is full of accounts of raids. If the number not raided is in proportion to the number raided, there must be a surprising number. A still recently raided in Richland-co was turning out 50 gallons a day. And the distiller was only getting ten dollars a gallon. That figure is a shock to the southern Ohio distiller who asks two or three times as much. Strange to say, it is the country districts which are producing the greatest number of stills in these times, the cities being regular paragons of virtue. Which only goes to show how all things change.

Time was, too when they referred to the unhealthy and ill-smelling cities, but this week Dr. H. H. Snively, the brand new health director of Ohio, who is adding to his own fame for good common sense by continuing the organization built up for him by Dr. A. W. Freeman, the health commissioner who was ripped out of office, spoke of the great danger of infantile paralysis in the country districts where, he said, sanitary conditions are not what they are in the cities. As the cities were once plague spots and now have a lower mortality than the country has, so it seems that the epidemics are far less of a menace in the cities than in the country. Being so busy, ripping up its government, Ohio is likely to let the year go by without some big forward and constructive movement in health. The time is coming for the new department to set out upon new courses. For one thing, it might go into the matter of rural water supplies, a subject badly in need of inquiry. Research in the field would show some startling facts.

ARE YOU SUFFERING FROM NERVE FORCE EXHAUSTION?

How to Tell and What to Do.

Thousands are failures in life and a burden to themselves and families from depletion of the nervo-vital fluid.

All success and happiness in life depends upon the nervous system which consists of countless millions of cells. In these cells is stored that mighty mysterious energy which we call nerve force. When your nerve force becomes weakened or exhausted, you may suffer from all kinds of alarming symptoms. The nervous woman of today feels bright and like herself during any exciting pleasure, but every time she indulges in such, she is only further spending her already small supply of nerve force, and further aggravating her already lamentable condition. When such a woman has no exciting pleasure, she at once feels mental and depressed, has headaches, periods of great weakness and moods in which she wants to scream.

The nervous business man feels in a perpetual hurry. He is impatient and restless while waiting for his car or lunch, he eats rapidly, flutters, and at night tosses and thinks for an hour or two before he can go to sleep. His memory fails, his judgment becomes poor and he often makes bad decisions, which greatly annoy and sometimes ruin his business. The nervous student broods over his studies and cannot fasten his attention upon his work. The nervous mother or housekeeper is highly irritated, forgets where she puts things and often cannot remember what she wanted to do. At night she often has a "second eye" and wishes it were saved. It is a relief for her nerves, when it means a high state of nerve force, without which no woman can run her household. Without nerve force, your will power becomes weakened, you have noble impulses and desires, but you do not carry them thru.

The most valuable sight in life is a man or woman who has "no will" of all diseases, except insanity, there are few, if any, more terrible in their nature than a stupor of the nervo-vital fluid. In such cases, it is often worse than foolish to take more stimulating medicines, or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your lagging vital powers for the moment, may be at the expense of your life later on. What you need is to put more nerve force into your nerves and more nerve force into your blood, to help make new nerve force, with which to feed your starving nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principal chemical constituents of active, living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the nerve and brain cells of man.

It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iron will not blacken nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people foolishly take. Nuxated Iron may therefore be termed both a blood and a nerve food, as it feeds and strengthens iron to your blood and the principal chemical ingredient of active living nerve force to your brain and nerve cells. Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually, and from the remarkable beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel certain of its efficacy that they can enter satisfaction results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes, look for the word "Nuxated" on every package.

Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists—AD.

"CYCLES"

Within the past 110 years in the United States, we find three distinct periods of price fluctuations—an era of rising prices being succeeded by one of falling prices.

During the upward trend the purchasing power of the dollar becomes less valuable each year as prices soar. Speculation runs rife. The middleman buys a commodity only to sell it soon after at a profit.

We are now embarked on a period of falling prices characterized by the dollar becoming more sought after. Sound investments paying steady incomes should be made. Reserves should be built up. A most satisfactory combination is the Savings Account. Start one today.
